THE COURT AT GENEVA.

Consultations and Discussions—Possibility of Adjournment—The Members of the Court.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

GENEVA, June 18.—Another very long day has been passed by the agents and counsel of the two contracting Powers. From an early hour this morning they have been engaged in long consultations. Last night the Americans had arranged some pleasant excursions, with an early start this morning, but at a late hour both sides received important dispatches which caused a postponement of the trip. Shortly before 10 o'clock Sir ROUNDELL PALMER visited Mr. EVARTS, and repeated the visit at a later hour. This afternoon Mr. EVARTS had a long consultation with the British counsel at the Hotel des Bergues. In fact the British agent and the American counsel have been fully occupied not only in seeing each other, but in receiving and forwarding dispatches. It is possible that a more experienced negotiator than Lord TENTERDEN would find some moments of rest, but his Lordship is too overwhelmed with dispatches.

THE QUESTION OF ADJOURNMENT.

It is evident that unless counsel on both sides come to some agreement to-night, acting upon the instructions of their Governments, the Court will again meet on Wednesday pro forma, and be requested once more to adjourn. In that event it will not be surprising to hear of an adjournment for several days, because the agents of both parties find that the interval of one day does not give sufficient time for the transmission of telegraphic dispatches, and in this respect the Americans are as a greater disadvantage, as their communications must be sent to London and thence by submarine cable. Governments have received the best of assistance from the Swiss and French telegraph directors.

It is not improbable that an adjournment will enable one or both sides to surrender their ground, or consent to certain modifications, which they could not have done before without exposing themselves to the charge of having given way to the dictation of the opposite side. It is very evident that efforts are being made to adjourn until next week, in the hope that Earl GRANVILLE and Mr. FISH may in the meantime arrive at some understanding, and enable the arbitrators to commence their real work.

HOW THE COURT KILLS TIME.

The arbitrators pass their time characteristically. Count SCLOPIS, as a courtly loyal gentleman, made an excursion to pay his respects to the Princess of PIEMONTE, at her villa on the shores of Lake Leman, a short distance from here. Mr. ADAMS passed the day in a charming antique chateau. Baron D'ITAJUBA must have felt great anxiety at being unable to visit his daughter, who is lying ill at Frankfort. Chief Justice STAEMPFLI is to be seen taking his feet at a little table in front of a cafe. Count SCHERBURN is the least recognized. He takes to his carriage for exercise only. As yet there is very little acquaintance between the members of the Court. The sittings have been so short and abrupt that there has been only time for the merest acquaintance.

WASHINGTON.

The Situation as Viewed from our Capital.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—At the Cabinet meeting today, only the President and Secretaries FISH and DELANO and Postmaster-General CRESWELL were present of the Cabinet. Several Departments were represented by Assistant Secretaries. The situation of the questions before the Geneva Tribunal were discussed briefly, and some dispatches were read by Secretary FISH. In regard to the arbitration there is nothing new that is known. In general the position of this Government is unchanged, remaining as explained in these dispatches of Sunday evening last.

Dispatch to the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The situation of affairs at Geneva, which excites much comment, is as follows:

Up to Saturday last Great Britain had moved side by side with the United States in the business before the Tribunal of Arbitration, when there was an interruption of the proceedings by the representatives of the former Government, who deferred their argument in the case, their object being to obtain an extension of time in order to secure the mediation of the additional article to the Treaty of Washington. The question of postponing action was discussed previously, but only diplomatically discussed between the two Governments, but to this our own had not given its assent, as it was the concern of Great Britain, not ours, to ask the arbitrators for an extension of time should she not be prepared or indisposed to argue the case before the Tribunal at the present time. Our Government has not and does not propose to object to such a proceeding, and will do nothing to give her Majesty a pretext for withdrawing from the arbitration. It is considered within the powers of the tribunal to grant the extension of time asked for, and until the Senate shall again meet to act upon such modifications of the amended additional article to the Treaty of Washington as may be proposed by Great Britain, who is dissatisfied with its phraseology, believing that it requires verbal amendments the better to carry out the object intended, and to free it from ambiguity. Our Government has no power to make such modifications, and, it may be said, has no disposition to do so, as it is not in session. At the next meeting of the Senate, that body having been consulted with regard to the article as originally presented to it by the President. As no extra session of the Senate will be called, the Court must await the session of that body in the regular course. The course indicated has been discussed by those who have the direction of it, and one of the views taken of it is that even if the case should now proceed, and the arbitrators should, in the language of the treaty, fail to award a sum in gross, then the other alternative, a Board of Assessors, is to be appointed to determine the liability as to each vessel, the organization to be at Washington, with power to hold its sittings there or in New-York or in Boston. So in case of the failure of the Arbitrators there must necessarily be some months' delay in the appointment of the Assessors, and therefore it is said our Government loses nothing by gaining by this way the postponement which Great Britain desires at Geneva. Besides, there are other parts of the treaty, the execution of which has been postponed by our own Government, as to navigation, transit and the fisheries, and under all circumstances it is considered the delay in determining all the questions at issue can work no evil to this Government, but merely postpone the payment of the money which may be awarded. While our Government does not favor delay at Geneva—being fully prepared for the performance of its part of the business—it will leave Great Britain to take its own course, so that if there should be a failure to resort it shall not be rightfully attributed to any act on the part of the Government of the United States. It should be said, however, no fears are at present entertained in that direction, and there is no information to warrant a conclusion that the efforts to adjust the differences will be ineffectual.

THE MAINE DEMOCRACY.

Meeting of the State Convention in Music Hall—Nomination of Charles P. Kimball for Governor—The Fusionists Candidates.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

BANGOR, Me., June 18.—The Democrats of Maine assembled this morning in Norumbega Hall to nominate a candidate for Governor. As soon as the clans began to gather, it was apparent that the arrangement was to bolster GREELEY, although all the groups around the hall occasionally a cheer was raised for the latest, this new departure, and one man from the back districts, who didn't know the arrangement, said the people up his way were not going to vote for a man who had made such impolite talk in the New-York Tribune.

At 1 o'clock the Convention was called to order by Gen. J. H. H. BUTLER, of Hampden, from the State Committee, who nominated Hon. J. C. MADIGAN, of Houlton, as temporary Chairman of the Convention. Mr. MADIGAN, in taking the chair, made a very able and earnest speech, congratulating the Democrats upon their great opportunities, and striking the keynote for GREELEY. He said the Democracy ought not to throw overboard such a pilot as GREELEY, even though he was not a pilot of their blood. Then followed cheers for HORACE GREELEY.

The following were chosen Secretaries of the Convention: C. P. MORTON, of Augusta; GEO. A. NICHOLS, of Searsport; GEO. GOSS, of Portland; JOSEPH J. HOPKINS, of New-Portland.

It was voted that the State Committee be made Committee on Credentials. The Committee on Credentials made their report that the whole number of delegates present was 659. It was voted to make the temporary organization permanent.

Hon. WM. MCCRILLIS was then called to the stand, and made a very rhetorical speech in favor of GREELEY, insisting that the Democracy is still alive. He closed by nominating Hon. CHARLES P. KIMBALL for Governor. Mr. KIMBALL was their candidate last year. WM. H. CLIFFORD, Esq., followed in a neat speech, seconding the nomination of Mr. KIMBALL. F. H. NICKERSON, Esq., Hon. EBEN F. PILLSBURY and GORHAM M. BOYNTON, Esq., were appointed a committee to wait upon Mr. KIMBALL and inform him of his nomination.

On motion of Hon. E. F. PILLSBURY, it was voted that the several county delegations choose each one selected a Vice-President, a member of the Committees on Resolutions, and a member of the State Committee from each county. The Convention then adjourned to 3½ o'clock P. M.

The Convention was called to order at 3 o'clock. The Committee reported the members for the State Committee and Committee on Resolutions. The following are the members of the State Committee: Alonzo Garcelon, James E. Madigan, A. W. Bradbury, Geo. W. Clark, Monroe Young, B. F. Parrott, Edward K. O'Brien, R. T. Runlett, Samuel R. Carter, Charles P. Kimball, D. T. Saunders, E. T. Parker, M. D. Hayden, C. C. Roberts, S. D. Leavitt, and Henry K. Bradbury.

Mr. KIMBALL, the candidate for Governor, was introduced, and made a speech denouncing GRANT and pronouncing for GREELEY. The question is, he says, how are we to get and keep the allies, the Liberal Republicans? The Convention proceeded to elect delegates at large to the Convention at Baltimore. Hon. BYRON BRADBURY withdrew his name as a candidate. Hon. ALONZO GARCELON also withdrew. The following were elected: EBEN F. PILLSBURY, of Augusta; WILLIAM H. MCCRILLIS, of Bangor; TIMOTHY H. HUBBARD, of Biddeford; EDWARD K. O'BRIEN, of Thomaston. The Committee on Resolutions reported substantially as follows:

That the principles enumerated by the late Cincinnati Convention, taken in connection with the letter of HORACE GREELEY accepting the nomination of that Convention, constitute a platform on which all the elements now in opposition to the present Administration of Federal Government can stand, and they adopt as their platform the propositions contained in HORACE GREELEY'S letter.

That the reforms for which patriotic men of all parties are now laboring can be best obtained by supporting as a candidate for our next President HON. HORACE GREELEY, and they recommend their delegates to vote for the Cincinnati candidates.

Hon. JOHN E. RAYMOND, of Bangor, offered a resolution against the Prohibitory law, but after an hour of bickering, the resolution was withdrawn. At this point, the Convention was startled by an announcement from WM. R. SMITH, of Augusta, that he was an old-fashioned Democrat, being the first one heard from during the day. He offered a resolution, but there was so much noise and riot about the rum resolution that nobody could tell what Mr. SMITH wanted. On motion of EDMUND J. WILSON, Esq., it was voted to submit the election of electors at large to the Democratic State Committee, in conjunction with the Liberal Republicans. The Convention adjourned.

Fifth District Congressional Convention—Delegates to Baltimore.

BANGOR, Me., June 18.—At the Democratic District Convention, held in the City Hall, this morning, MARCELLUS EMERY, editor of the Bangor Commercial, was nominated for member of Congress from the Fifth District, and JAMES C. MADIGAN, of Houlton, and WILLIAM PEARSON, of Bangor, were chosen delegates to the Baltimore Convention. No formal instructions were given to the delegates, but the sentiment of the Convention was clearly in favor of the nomination of HORACE GREELEY for President.

GRANT AND WILSON IN MAINE.

Ratification in Bangor—Mr. Hamlin and Mr. Peters Among the Speakers.

BANGOR, Me., June 18.—A Grant and Wilson banner, the first of the campaign in this neighborhood, was displayed last evening over the Kenduskeag Bridge, and the Republicans held a grand ratification meeting at the City Hall, where speeches were made by Mayor WHEELWRIGHT, Chairman of the meeting, Hon. A. PETERS, and other prominent citizens, the music being furnished by Bangor Cornet Band. Much enthusiasm was manifested.

INDIANA.

The Ninth District—Gen. Shanks Renominated for Re-Election—Senator Morton on Hendricks.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 18—The Republican Congressional Convention for the Ninth District assembled at Muncie today and nominated Gen. J. P. SHANKS for re-election to Congress. His competitor, Col. ROBERTSON, of Fort Wayne, moved to make the nomination unanimous, and pledged himself to a hearty support of Gen. SHANKS. The entire district was represented, and the best feeling prevailed. The district was supposed to be tainted with Greeleyism, but delegates said they would more than maintain their customary vote by Democrats who will come out straight for GRANT. Senator MORTON was present and made a short speech, which was received with rapturous applause. The Senator is preparing a campaign speech, which will be delivered soon, in which he will handle Mr. HENDRICKS without gloves. The campaign is fairly open, and Republicans are in the advance.

NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

Election of Hon. Rainbridge Wadleigh as United States Senator.

CONCORD, N. H., June 18.—The House met at 3 o'clock today, and at 4 proceeded to the election of a United States Senator, in place of Mr. J. W. PATTERSON. The vote was then read, and resulted as follows: Whole number of votes cast, 261; necessary for a choice, 131: J. W. PATTERSON received 1; HARRY SINGHAM, 126; RAINBRIDGE WADLEIGH, 134. RAINBRIDGE WADLEIGH was declared duly elected on the part of the House.

Mississippi River-Thieves Arrested.

ST. LOUIS, June 18.—Three men, belonging to a gang of river-thieves who commit depredations on steam-boats, and steal all sorts of property from the levee, were arrested today. They had quite a large barge with a considerable amount of property on board, with which they were preparing to start south.

THE GREAT FESTIVAL.

Notes on the Second Day's Programme in Boston.

An Ovation to the Band of the English Grenadier Guards—Enthusiastic Reception of Mme. Lucca—Mme. Rudersdorff—Herr Straus—The Chorus and Other Features.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

BOSTON, June 18.—The weather continues propitious. The heat, however, is more oppressive than on the first day of the jubilee, and hence the less populous look of the streets of Boston this morning. It should be said that the hour at which the concerts take place is unfavorable for persons desirous of gratifying a taste for sight-seeing, as well as a passion for music. As the entertainments commence at 3 o'clock and end toward 7, attendance at the Coliseum robs one of the afternoon and of the twilight hour, during which a saunter through the semi-rural and wholly beautiful part of Boston would be most pleasant. This morning passed off very quietly. Yesterday, as I ought to have mentioned in my dispatch, Mayor GASTON received the visiting journalists at Faneuil Hall, and his guests fared sumptuously. Last night a serenade to Herr ANT, who dwells at the St. James Hotel, enlivened unusually that neighborhood, but the forenoon of today has supplied no incident worth mentioning.

SECOND DAY'S CONCERT—THE BRITISH BAND.

The story of the second chapter of the jubilee must, therefore, begin and terminate with the concert. The performance, though less smooth than its predecessor, was decidedly interesting. A mention of its features in the order of their importance results in the record that the deepest impression was wrought by the contributions to the programme by the band of the British Grenadier Guards, under the direction of Mr. DAN GODFREY. The recitals of the band quite justified the enthusiastic greeting of the audience. A reception of greater warmth could not have been desired. The spectators, in the language of KEAN, rose at Mr. GODFREY'S scarlet-coated men as they filed down to the front of the platform, and thousands of handkerchiefs were waived, when the clever composer and conductor, attired in the Grenadier uniform, strode down the aisle and ascended, with the guidance of Mr. GILMORE, the platform reserved for the commanding spirits of the festival. How well deserved was the welcome extended to the band as a body of accomplished musicians, their after-work showed. Their brief and graceful opening piece, the overture to WAGNER'S "Der Freyschutz," GODFREY'S "Mabel Waltz" and "Star-spangled Banner" proclaimed not only the individual skill of the executants intrusted with the solo passages—like those allotted, for example, to the horns in the overture and to the cornet in the waltz—but the thoroughly well-balanced strength and the perfect sympathy of taste and unanimity of purpose existing in the organization. A storm of applause crowned each of these efforts, and cheer after cheer resounded in the Coliseum when the band, having at length finished its liberal share of the afternoon's labors, left the stage.

MME. PESCHKA LEUTNER.

The second victory of the day was won by Mme. PESCHKA LEUTNER, whose delivery of the grand air from "Il Flauto Magico" gave birth to a tumultuous demonstration of delight. Concerning Mme. PESCHKA LEUTNER'S high rank in the art-world of Europe, the announcements have been sufficiently pompous to create some skepticism. It is to be regretted that a series of concerts in a locale of reasonable dimensions will not enable a decisive judgment as to her merits to be formed. Meantime it is certain that the choice of Mme. PESCHKA LEUTNER as the principal singer of the Jubilee, was a most felicitous one. Her exceedingly light soprano voice filled the building, and even those who listened, most remote from the orchestra, must have lost little of her facile and brilliant execution of MOZART'S florid composition. The artist was, of course, recalled, and the evidences of satisfaction which accompanied took, at the close of the air, the form of a real ovation.

MME. GODDARD.

Mme. ARABELLA GODDARD'S actual success it is a no less congenial duty to write. Happily Mme. GODDARD'S fame as a pianiste is so great and so universal that the fact that her first piano recital in America either unmatured or disappointed a miscellaneous assemblage can in no way affect it. The lady was received with much cordiality and generously applauded. Her unaffected and finished rendering of THALBERG'S fantasia on "Last Rose of Summer" revealed her as an artist of the foremost rank to those persons who occupied the seats nearest the platform, but the piano, as on the previous day, was quite inadequate to sending its tones from end to end of the Coliseum. Mme. GODDARD'S return to the United States, in which, with decisions of the many thousand spectators in the Coliseum yesterday, who awaited orchestral effects from a piano, and were naturally disappointed, an eminent artist. A noisy triumph to-day was not to be looked for.

STRAUS.

The next last prominent number of the programme was the waltz, "Wine, Women and Song," by STRAUS. Herr STRAUS divined the interpretation of his composition, and the fascination of his vivacious manner was as potent upon the audience as the expressiveness and authority of his style as a conductor were upon the instrumental forces under his control.

THE CHORUS.

On the remaining pieces on the bill it is not essential to dwell. Yesterday's concert proved that the chorus was a success, as well as strong in numbers, and today's entertainment furnished renewed assurance of their capabilities. In BACH'S "Now May the Will of God be Done," in a festival hymn entitled "Peace and Music," by DUDLEY BUCK, and in a chorus from HEROLD'S "Zampa," the singers gave good promise and performance. The orchestral accompaniments were smartly perceptible. The one positively ill-fated performance was that of the English National Anthem, during which terrible confusion prevailed. Mme. RUDERSDORFF sang the solo lines of the piece, and forced her voice without securing in so all proportioned a room as the Coliseum the volume of sound the finale of the third act of "Ernani," done by the "bonnet of artists," to which remarkable mockery of domestic flowers reference has been already made, and HALEVY'S romance of "L'Eclair," in the exceptions in which chorus and orchestra, with the bells and artillery, were concerned.

LARGER AUDIENCE.

The spectators, let me add, were more numerous than on Monday, and I am told that the sale of tickets for the remaining sessions is encouraging to proportions. The French band will be on hand to-morrow's entertainment. P. L. S.

ARKANSAS.

The Democratic Candidates' State Convention—Fusion With the Democracy.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 18.—The Liberal Republican State Convention met today in this city, and organized by electing Q. R. UNDERWOOD, of Helena, Chairman. A Committee on Resolutions was appointed; also a committee to confer with the Democratic Convention tomorrow. The Convention will be one of the largest ever held in the State, every county being represented.

Thunder-Storm at Halifax.

HALIFAX, N. S., June 18.—A few minutes before 4 o'clock this afternoon a very heavy rain and hail storm commenced. The hail-stones were as large as marbles, and fell for ten minutes. The rain, with vivid flashes of lightning and loud peals of thunder, continued for over an hour. A flash of lightning struck the steeple of Chambers Church, shattering it, and then divided into two parts and passed down through the building, tearing the ceiling, floors, &c., and completely demolishing the adjoining Mission House. A ball of lightning also struck the cupola of the Provincial Building, and passing through it, did considerable damage to the structure. The occasion is now silent.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Reductions in Departmental Expenditures Suggested by Retrenchment—The Fraudulent Documents—The Attempt on Speaker's Chamber and Electric Clock Fraud.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Besides the appropriations made by Congress during last session, being $4,000,000 less than last year, there were, last year, unexpended balances amounting to a large sum, which were made available by the various Departments, and which increased the real amount set aside for the expenses of the Government by their full amount this year, the law requiring unexpended balances to be covered into the Treasury went into full effect, and the appropriations show the real amount provided for the expenditures of the Government, and made the reduction much greater than the figures heretofore published would indicate.

MURDERED BY INDIANS.

Indian Agent MILLER, at the Pueblo Agency, near Fort Defiance, Arizona, has been murdered by the Ute Indians. Particulars are not yet known here.

DEPUTY COLLECTOR OF PHILADELPHIA.

The appointment of D. F. HOUSTON as special Deputy Collector of Philadelphia, has been confirmed by the Treasury Department. He was appointed by FORNEY, and continued by the present Collector, and is regarded as a specially good officer.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT.

The President will leave here, with Gen. PORTER, to-morrow night, for Long Branch. Next week the President, Mrs. GRANT and Gen. PORTER will go to Boston to attend the Jubilee.

THE CHICAGO COLLECTORSHIP.

The appointment of a Collector of Chicago has not yet been decided upon, and there are no intimations of when selection may be made.

A FAILURE.

The attempts to set up a Greeley and Brown club here do not seem to succeed, any members found respectable in point of numbers, and it would be positively cruel to say anything about the respectability of those who have joined.

SUMNER'S SPEECH.

The Liberal stock in trade is SUMNER'S speech, which is being sent away in infinities numbers. This speech is considered more useful than cotton, and therefore, it is furnished at the smallest price, the Committee having "club rates."

PERSONAL.

J. W. SPARKS, Chief Clerk of the Agricultural Department, has gone away for a vacation, and it is reported that he will not come back.

Dispatch to the Associated Press.

AFFAIRS ON THE RIO GRANDE.

The Commission appointed by the President to examine into the condition of affairs on the Rio Grande are to meet in New-Orleans July 1, and from there they will visit the Rio Grande, commencing at Brownsville and extending their operations up that river through New-Mexico.

DISTURBANCE AT NEW-ORLEANS.

Reports from the special agent of the Treasury Department at New-Orleans show heavy seizures of Spanish playing-cards and cigars for violation of the Customs laws.

TEA AND COFFEE.

The Treasury Department has decided, in answer to numerous inquiries, that on and after the July next, and until the 1st day of July, 1873, no tea or coffee, not actually in transit to the United States from places west thereof, will not be charged with the discriminating duty of 10 per cent., now collected on importations of this character, but that by the third section of the new Tariff law, this duty will be reimposed on and after October 1, 1872, on said articles.

SPECIAL AGENTS OF THE POST-OFFICE.

The Postmaster-General today appointed the following to be special agents at large of the Post-office Department, with pay at the rate of four thousand dollars per annum each, for subsistence, to take effect on and after July 1, 1872, according to the act of Congress approved June 1, 1872, and known as the new Postal Code law: Edgar Selye and James McDowell, of the Post-office Department of Washington; D. L. Pinkerton, of Lexington, Ky.; Benjamin E. Lippo, of Richmond, Ind.; Jacob D. Carrow, of Germantown, Penn.; Joseph W. Holden, of North Carolina; George L. Van Horser, of New-York; A. H. Leib, of Washington, D. C., and Richard G. Bayens, of Utica, N. Y.

THE NEW TOBACCO TAX.

On and after July 1, 1872, every person who sells or offers for sale manufactured tobacco, snuff or cigars, except manufacturers of those articles who sell only their own products at the place of production, will be required to pay a special tax at the rate of $6 per annum, without regard to the amount of his annual sales. The exemption of persons whose annual sales do not exceed $100, is repealed by the new law.

MR. COLFAX AT SOUTH BEND.

Response to a Serenade by his Friends—His Name Shall Not Become a Nucleus of Dissatisfaction.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., June 18.—Vice-President COLFAX and family arrived here this morning on an early train. About 8 o'clock this evening his friends assembled in the Court-house square, to the number of 2,000 or 3,000, and, accompanied by a band, proceeded to his residence. He was loudly cheered, and addressed his friends in a half hour's speech. In the course of his remarks, he said that, when leading and prominent Republicans insisted that he had no right to fix the time when his public life should terminate, and that it would be selfish and wrong for him to refuse the use of his name if the party desired the old ticket, he had yielded to that appeal. But when a majority of the Convention determined that it would strengthen the ticket to nominate another, he promptly telegraphed his adhesion to the new ticket. He would have been faithless, indeed, after having been a candidate before the Convention as he had not, to the spirit of the principles that had controlled his whole political life. He had sought to lift up the downtrodden and to secure liberty, protection and equality under the law to all, and he rejoiced that no one now throughout the land dared openly to oppose these principles. He added that he had determined that throughout the term to remain as he is. Any kind should induce him to drift into antagonism or rivalry to the President, and that his name should not become in any way a nucleus of disaffection or a word of discord. Whenever he differed as to the public policy, he preferred rather to counsel privately with the President, and to awaken confidence in discreet ways, constantly urging unity, harmony and conciliation as political necessities to keep a party of three millions united and victorious. He lamented all dissensions, and welcoming the season of rest and quiet before him, instead of the years of labor and responsibility of the past twenty years. He said he should prove in the home life he expected to enjoy with the people what had given him such unbounded confidence in their esteem and confidence.

A flash of lightning also struck the cupola of the Provincial Building, and passing through it, did considerable damage to the structure. The occasion is now silent.

TRIAL OF THE JUDGES.

Extra Session of the Senate in the Corruption Cases.

Charges Against Judge Curtis Presented by the Governor—The Case of Judges Prindle and McGown—No Post-ponement Granted.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

ALBANY, June 18.—The Senate met in extra session, pursuant to adjournment, at 4 P. M. today, to continue the investigation of the charges against Judges PRINDLE, of Chenango County, and Judge MCGOWN, of New-York. Not more than a dozen spectators were present. Lieut.-Gov. BRADY presided, and a call of the roll showed the following absentees: Senators AMES, "sick;" BOWEN, HARDENBURGH, "deceased," LORD, MCGOWEN, MADDEN, O'BRIEN and TWEED. The session was here interrupted by the entrance of the Governor's Private Secretary bearing a message from Gov. HOFFMAN, which on being read proved to be charges made by the Bar Association against Judge G. W. CURTIS, of the Marine Court of New-York. The Governor asked that the Senate investigate the charges, and if they are found to be true, he recommends the removal of the accused.

JUDGE PRINDLE'S CASE.

On motion, the Senate then went into secret session to discuss the demurrer interposed by Judge PRINDLE at the last session to the charges against him, based on the ground that the alleged malfeasance occurred prior to his last election to office. After a session of nearly an hour, the doors were opened, and it was announced that the Senate had overruled the demurrer. The vote is understood to have been 16 to 8. The Senators voting to sustain the demurrer were FOSTER, HARROWER and JAMES WOOD. Mr. MCGATE, counsel for PRINDLE, said the demurrer of his client having been overruled, he now asked the Senate for time to prepare an answer, which would undoubtedly be a general denial of all the charges. On motion of Senator JAMES WOOD, he was granted until tomorrow morning to file his answer.

LEWIS TREMAIN, of counsel for the people, in answer to an inquiry, said the prosecution would not be ready to proceed with the investigation to-morrow, and asked that it be postponed to the 7th of October next.

Senator D. P. WOOD asked if he could not name an earlier day.

Mr. TREMAIN replied that it required two-thirds of all the Senators elected to remove the Judge. As there were practically three permanent absentees, it would be necessary that there should be a pretty full attendance of the remainder. He had understood that two or three Senators now present were unwell, and he thought they would be more likely to get a full attendance in October.

Some further discussion ensued, when it was moved and carried to postpone fixing the time of Judge PRINDLE'S trial till to-morrow.

THE MCGOWN CASE.

It was also resolved to take up the case of Judge MCGOWN. The Judge, with his counsel, Col. R. C. DAVIS, of New-York, and N. C. MOAK, of Albany, was invited to take a seat within the bar of the Senate when the printed charges and rumors were read by the CLERK. At the conclusion of the reading, Senator JAS. WOOD announced that he had received a written notice that JNO. E. PARSONS, JNO. M. VAN COTT, BURTON N. HARRISON and ALBERT STICKNEY had been designated by the Bar Association to represent the people in the charges against Judge MCGOWN. On motion they were also assigned seats within the bar, all being present except PARSONS.

Mr. MOAK asked and obtained leave to amend the answer of Judge MCGOWN in accordance with the understanding when the answer was first filed. The amended answer was then read, and differed from the original only in adding another point for the defense, to wit: That the Constitution, in providing the removal of a Judge by the Senate, as is proposed in this case, contemplates and requires that the Governor should first investigate the charges himself, and arrive at a conclusion in his own mind with regard to them, and that if he finds they are sustained he should then recommend to the Senate the removal of the accused. In the present case it does not appear that he even investigated or even read the charges, and in transmitting the evidence to the Senate, he makes no recommendation whatever. This is claimed by Col. DAVIS to be a fatal defect in the mode of procedure, which would render nugatory any action the Senate might take in the premises. Considerable discussion followed the reading of the amended answer as to the time to be fixed for the trial. Col. DAVIS asked for a postponement of a day or two, owing to the absence of Judge HENRY R. SELDEN and JOHN E. DEVLIN, Esq., both of whom were engaged as counsel for Judge MCGOWN, but were unavoidably absent on professional business. He said the preliminary legal points to be discussed were of the most important character, and he desired their aid in the argument.

Mr. VAN COTT, for the Bar Association, said he would not object to any reasonable delay, but witnesses had been summoned, and would be put to great expense and inconvenience by an adjournment.

Senator MURPHY said he had understood that Judge MCGOWN and his counsel were willing that the case should rest on the evidence taken by the Assembly Committee. He undoubtedly had a right to have it taken over again, but if both sides were content to rest the case on the evidence already printed, the difficulty about witnesses could be avoided.

Mr. MOAK said they could not consent to this course, for the reason that the evidence taken before the Assembly Committee was not taken according to the rules of law, but all sorts of hearsay and extraneous matter was admitted, which was entirely illegal and might prejudice the case.

Mr. VAN COTT replied that he, for one, was willing to submit the case on the printed evidence, and to strike out those parts claimed to be outside the rules; at the same time he was prepared to show that the evidence taken by the Committee was competent, and legal evidence as the Senate might and ought to act upon.

Senator D. P. WOOD said in reference to the request for a postponement that he thought the case ought to proceed at once. Here were nearly thirty Senators called away from their business and from their homes, and he did not think their time should be sacrificed to suit the convenience of two men who happened to be otherwise engaged in their profession. In conclusion, he moved that the investigation in the case of Judge MCGOWN proceed at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The motion was carried without opposition, and after adopting a resolution to notify Judge CURTIS to appear and settle the issues to be tried in the case the Senate adjourned till 10 o'clock to-morrow. S.

TEXAS.

The Democratic State Convention—Ex-Rebel Postmaster Escapes Pension.

CORSICANA, Texas, June 18.—The State Democratic Convention organized permanently today, Hon. JOHN H. REAGAN presiding. Over 600 delegates are in attendance. It is admitted to be the most respectable and imposing political assemblage ever witnessed in the State. A State Central Committee was appointed, and after six or seven hours debate Col. O. M. WINKLER, of Nacogdoches County, was elected Chairman. No other business of importance was transacted. The Committee on the Platform report to-night. The majority of the delegates are opposed to a separate nomination at Baltimore.

Woman Suffrage in New-Hampshire.

CONCORD, N. H., June 18.—The annual meeting of the Woman's Suffrage Association of New-Hampshire began at Eagle Hall this evening. Mrs. ARMENIA S. WHITE presided, with Mrs. J. F. LOVERING Secretary. Among the speakers this evening were STEPHEN S. FOSTER, of Worcester, and Mrs. ISA C. BOWLES, of Carlisle, Mass. Mrs. LIVERMORE and Mrs. CELIA BURLEIGH are expected to address the meeting to-morrow.

Trotting at Hayes Park—Mary H. Whitney and W. H. Allen the Winners.

BOSTON, June 18.—The Mystic Park races began today. There was a large crowd of people and excellent sport. The race for three-minute horses was won by BACON'S b. c. Mary H. Whitney, beating Cone and Abdallah. Time—2:38¾, 2:33¼, 2:37¼. 2:34½. Cone won the third heat. The race for horses that never beat 2:34 was won by BACON'S s. g. W. H. Allen, beating GOLDSMITH'S b. m. Rockrest and HOWARD'S g. m. Joe Flint. Time—2:24, 2:26¼, 2:22½, 2:26½. Hunicrea won the second heat.

RUTGERS COLLEGE.

One Hundred and First Commencement of the College—The Exercises.

New-Brunswick, N. J., presented a busy scene yesterday, on the occasion of the Commencement of Rutgers College. The week is the closing one of the 101st year of the College. The day was devoted to the meetings of classes, the Alumni meeting, the address before the literary societies, the dedication of the newly-completed Geological Hall, and the Junior oratorical contest.

The Alumni meeting took place in the College chapel at 10 o'clock. Judge LABREMORE, of the Class of 1825, presided. Two portraits, those of JOHANNES MANTIERE VAN HARLINGEN, born near Millstone, in 1724, and a minister of the Reformed Church, and JAMES VAN CAMPEN ROMEYN, a trustee of Rutgers College for thirty years previous to his death in 1840, were then presented to the College, the address being made by EDWARD S. VOTE.

After the presentation, the following officers for the year were chosen: President, Rev. J. L. SEE, 1843; Vice-President, William LE PEYRE, 1868; Secretary, E. K. HOW, 1867; and Orator, H. D. Baldwin, 1869. The regular committees were continued. It was then resolved to form a regular Alumni Association.

At 12 o'clock the annual address before the literary societies was delivered by Dr. ALEXANDER R. THOMPSON, a member of the Philadelphian Society.

At 1 o'clock a collation was furnished to the trustees, Alumni and others in the basement of Geological Hall. At 2 o'clock the ceremony of the dedication of the new Geological Hall, which was the feature of the day, commenced. The exercises took place in the large Hall on the second floor, Gov. PARKER presided, and Ex-Gov. VROOM and Judge LOTT occupied chairs on the platform.

The keys of the building were presented by the Building Committee, and were received by President CAMPBELL on behalf of the trustees.

The formal address of the afternoon was made by Rev. JOHN A. TODD, of the Class of 1862, who took as his subject "The Men of the Times."

In the evening the annual oratorical contest between members of the Junior Class, chosen from the two literary societies of the College, took place in the First Reformed Church.

THE STRIKES OUT OF TOWN.

The Strike at Philadelphia Dying Out.

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—The strikers at their meeting this morning numbered 193 men. The excitement appears to be dying out. Speeches were made favoring the return of the men to their shops to finish the contracts in force at the time of the strike. Other speakers opposed this, urging that it would be fatal to the strike. No action was taken, and the meeting adjourned.

Twelve Thousand Germans Miners Stop Work.

BERLIN, June 18.—A dispatch from Dortmund, a town of Westphalia, located on the Cologne and Minden Railway, says 12,000 men, employed in the mines at and near that place have suddenly struck work.

A Committee of Strikers Call on Gov. Hoffman.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 18.—At the meeting of the working men in Capitol Park this morning, a committee was appointed to wait upon the Governor and represent the position taken by the strikers, which they hold to be in accordance with the laws of the State. The Governor received the Committee, but said they must excuse him from making a speech. His views upon the question were matters of record in his messages and elsewhere. Any speech he might make would be in all probability misinterpreted. He cautioned them to see to it that nothing was done to disturb the peace and order of the community, or to excite the hostility of law-abiding citizens.

THE WRATHER.

Synopsis and Probabilities.

WASHINGTON, June 19—1 A. M.—The barometer is highest over the Middle Atlantic States, lowest over the Northwest; partially cloudy weather is now prevailing north and west of the Ohio Valley, with light and fresh southerly to westerly winds and over the New-England States with light westerly winds, clear and partially cloudy weather, and over the Middle States with light to fresh southerly winds, and over the Southern States with light variable winds.

PROBABILITIES.

Fresh to brisk southerly winds veering to westerly, partially cloudy weather and possibly occasional areas of light rain north and west of the Ohio Valley; clear and partially cloudy weather for the New-England and Middle States, with light to fresh southerly winds, and for the Southern States with light to fresh winds except over the southern portion of the South Atlantic States, where easterly winds, cloudy weather and areas of rain are probable.

THE CITY'S WATER RIGHTS.

The Controversy Over the Second-Avenue Bulk-Head—Authority of the Dock Commissioners.

In the case of the Second-avenue Railroad Company against the Mayor, &c., in which an injunction had been issued restraining the defendant in the person of the Dock Commissioners from removing certain spiles driven down by the Railroad Company in the Harlem River, at the end of Second-avenue, a motion was made, yesterday, in Supreme Court, Chambers, on behalf of the City against the continuance of the injunction.

The preliminary injunction had been granted in the first instance on a complaint on behalf of the Railroad, setting forth that, under act of the Legislature of 1855, the Company was authorized to construct a bridge across the Harlem River, leading from the termination of Second-avenue to Westchester; also, that by its charter the Company was authorized to occupy the line of the road up to the waterline at Harlem. On the motion yesterday, on behalf of the City, to vacate the injunction, Mr. RICHARD O'GORMAN contended that the piles driven down by the Railroad Company were no part of the bridge; that they were not part of the railroad, nor were they necessary to its enjoyment; that under the authority granted the Dock Commissioners they had power to remove the obstructions complained of, to regulate and govern wharves, to keep wharves and bulkheads accessible for commercial purposes. These piles, he said, had been placed where long ago there was no other visible purpose than to prevent approach to the bulkhead. The plaintiffs do not pretend that they are proceeding to construct a bridge, and the act under which the Company claims right does not authorise the construction of these and the indefinite postponement of the bridge. Moreover, the act authorising the construction of the bridge was contrary to the constitutional provision that no private act should contain but one subject, and that stated in its title; in fact, while the title of this act was merely "An act in relation to the Second-avenue Railroad Company," the body of it granted the power to build a bridge over navigable waters, one of the highest privileges which could be granted, and one which, until very recent decisions, it was doubtful as to whether but the Federal Government could grant—a power which no one would be likely to expect under such a simple heading. It was unconstitutional, too, in that it appropriated property dedicated and belonging to the public, for public uses, without just compensation. But if the act were valid they had forfeited their common-user. In seventeen years they had failed to exercise a grant for the public benefit entirely, except so far as they had instead created a public nuisance. Finally, that the act giving the Commissioners of Docks exclusive jurisdiction over the water front operated to repeal the act of 1855.

Ex-Judge SLOSSON, on behalf of the Company, argued in favor of sustaining the injunction, reiterating substantially the same grounds on which the preliminary injunction had been granted. In law, he said, when the piles had been driven down, the understanding existed between the Second-avenue Company and the Port Chester Railroad Company, whereby the latter was to build the bridge; that the bridge remained unbuilt only through failure of the Port Chester Company to complete its line; that recently arrangements were being made to complete that line, which would include the building of the bridge; that under the charter of the Second-avenue Company its right to occupy to the water-line was established, and, so far as they had occupied by driving those piles had been done by authority of law, and they were not amenable to the authority of the Court, as for having created a nuisance.

Judge BARRETT, at the close of his argument, rendered his decision, saying that when first applied to for the preliminary injunction, he entertained very grave doubts as to whether he should interfere with the action of the Dock Commissioners, and had referred the plaintiffs counsel to his own recent decision as to their powers. It had been pointed out to him that they were, by the act of 1855, authorized to build this bridge, and he had thought, especially as no immediate injury could arise from the delay, that it would, perhaps, be as well to have the question, whether the Legislature had given such superior rights, argued more fully than it could be on an ex parte application. Those doubts had not been removed. After seventeen years' delay nothing was now made, save a vague allegation of an intention to build the bridge at an early day. He could not think that they had made out any equitable ground for relief. There was no danger threatened, for which an adequate remedy did not exist at law. On the plaintiff's own complaint, therefore, irrespective of the answer he must dissolve this injunction.

Injunction ordered to be dissolved accordingly.

In the course of the argument, Ex-Judge SLOSSON, on behalf of the Company, threw out an intimation that some private parties were more deeply interested in this litigation than the City, but he did not feel at liberty to disclose the secret.

Mr. O'GORMAN invited him to "let the cat out of the bag" at his pleasure. So far as he (Mr. O'GORMAN) was concerned, he desired no secret connected with the matter to remain undisclosed.

To this Judge SLOSSON interposed the plea of secrecy, but others connected with the litigation stated that the Dock Commissioners had granted a lease of the bulk-head to Mortimer G. LANE, a director of the Third-avenue Railroad, and hence came the "tug of war."

SURGICAL MALPRACTICE.

Trial of Dr. George B. Gyles on a Charge of Manslaughter—The Testimony Yesterday.

In the Court of General Sessions, yesterday, before Judge BENEDICT, "Dr." GEORGE B. GYLES was indicted on a charge of manslaughter in having produced the death of Mrs. MARY LOWDEN, of No. 228 Thompson-street, by surgical malpractice. Assistant District-Attorney FELLOWS conducted the prosecution, and Mr. HOWE appeared for the defense. CATHERINE MARIETTA testified, that on the 13th of May last she lived in No. 228 Thompson-street, and that about two o'clock that afternoon she admitted the prisoner to her house; he asked to see Mrs. LOWDEN, and was shown into the parlor; a few minutes afterward Mrs. LOWDEN came in, when they both rose and went to her room; while they were upstairs no person entered the house until half-past four o'clock, when the front door was opened and then slammed violently; a short time subsequently witness went upstairs and found Mrs. LOWDEN dead in her bed; her clothes were lying in a heap upon the floor; previous to the entrance of the prisoner the deceased appeared to be in her accustomed health.

MARY LOUISE LOWDEN, the daughter of the deceased, testified that on the morning her mother died she left the house about ten o'clock, and returned at noon; she afterward visited a fancy-store, but did not remain more than five minutes; at two o'clock the prisoner arrived, and the witness went down into the basement; a short time before five o'clock, being astonished at the absence of her mother, in company with MARIETTA MARIETTA, she went up to her room and knocked, but received no answer; they then opened the door, and discovered the deceased dead, in the condition described by the first witness.

THOMAS BROE gave corroborative evidence. Police Capt. BYRNES stated that the facts in connection with Mrs. LOWDEN'S death having been reported to him, he called upon the prisoner and said the lady he had been attending in Thompson-street was very ill, and that her friends wanted to see him. GYLES denied having been attending to her, but he was finally compelled to admit it, but denied having done anything to injure her. He repeatedly asserted the last statement, and when on arriving at the house he was told she was dead he cried out, "I did not do it; I did not do anything to Mrs. LOWDEN."

Dr. [illegible]ASH, Deputy Coroner, testified that he made a post-mortem examination of the deceased, and, in his opinion, death was produced by malpractice. He was cross-examined at great length by Mr. HOWE, after which the Court adjourned to this morning.

The Suit Against Gen. Butler.

The case of TILDEN et al. BENJAMIN F. BUTLER was resumed yesterday morning. Additional evidence was adduced for the complainant, and the case for the defense was opened by Mr. DEVLIN. He said that Gen. BUTLER was "the best abused man in America," that he had been cruelly maligned and misrepresented during the last ten years, and that this was the first opportunity he had of vindication by a verdict of his countrymen. Counsel entered into an elaborate statement of the circumstances of the case, denying that the defendants and his brother entered into a conspiracy to obtain possession of the vessel for the purposes of trade, and also that they made $2,000,000 while in New-Orleans. ANDREW J. BUTLER, he said, died a bankrupt, and thus one portion of the allegation was refuted. He asserted that the vessel was not worth more than $25,000; that it did not belong to the present claimant, and that Gen. BUTLER purchased it in a perfectly legitimate manner. Some evidence was taken in support of this statement, and the Court adjourned.

Police Trials.

The calendar of Police trials yesterday, before Commissioner BOSWORTH, contained thirty-four complaints against delinquent members of the Department. The only one of interest was that of HENRY M. KAVANAGH, a "striking" machinist, accusing Capt. KILLALEA, of the Twenty-second Precinct, with having refused to entertain his complaint against M. PETIBEL, one of the owners of a foundry in West Fortieth-street, who had assaulted him with an iron bar and thrown him out of the building, which he had entered for the purpose of inducing the men at work there to "strike." When he (KAVANAGH) was called for trial it was found that KAVANAGH had complained against the wrong officer. One of the clerks who had taken the complaint, which was made against Capt. KILLALEA, who had nothing to do with the affair, instead of Capt. CAFFERY of the Twentieth Precinct, against whom KAVANAGH had intended to complain. The case was accordingly dismissed, and a new complaint was ordered to be made against Capt. CAFFERY.

COUNCIL OF POLITICAL REFORM.

What it is Doing—The First Annual Report—A Survey of the Field.

The New-York City Council of Political Reform has recently issued its first annual report, which takes a very philosophical and business-like view of the political situation of this unfortunate City, and of its own undertaking to correct it. This Council deserves well of the public for what it has accomplished, as it has not itself, the task of systematically analyzing the causes and nature of the miasma of this City that has made it infamous throughout the world.

This system of political reform proceeds on the assumption that the case is not hopeless; that there is a remedy for these evils, as enormous as they are

To Advertisers.

☞ For the accommodation of up-town residents, advertisements for insertion in the TIMES will be received at No. 54 West 33d-st., junction of Broadway and 6th-av.; No. 308 West 23d-st., opposite Grand Opera-house, and No. 1,241 Broadway, between 30th and 31st sts., at same rates as are charged at office of publication.

☞ The NEW-YORK TIMES has opened a branch office in Brooklyn at No. 111 Fulton-st., junction of Fulton and Main, where advertisements will be received until 8 P. M.

☞ Throughout the Presidential canvass, we shall publish fuller reports of meetings and conventions in each State than any other New-York journal. Very full dispatches will be forwarded by telegraph, supplemented by careful letters. Our desire is to place before the public the latest and most trustworthy information, and we have made ample arrangements for that purpose.

What is the difference today between the New-York Tribune and a regular dyed-in-the-wool Democratic paper? Will anybody point it out?

Hon. WILLIAM BARNES has received the appointment of one of the three Commissioners from the United States to the Statistical Congress at St. Petersburg. For such a mission, the President could not have made a more judicious choice. Mr. BARNES was the creator of our State Insurance Department, and, for upward of ten years, its affairs were administered by him with equal ability and rectitude. More recently, he has earned the gratitude of every friend of good government by dragging to light the corruption which, under Superintendent MILLER, threatened to make the Insurance Department a permanent scandal of our State Administration, and a terror instead of a protection to hundreds of thousands of citizens whose interests it was created to watch. We understand that Mr. BARNES will present at the Congress a paper upon "Life Insurance Statistics in the United States." This is a subject which no one in the country is able to treat more ably or exhaustively, and its publicity cannot fail to be of service to the insurance interests of the United States. The fact that Mr. BARNES has received his appointment without the employment of either personal or political influence, should be eminently gratifying to him, and is equally creditable to the President's perception of the kind of fitness required for the mission in question.

There having been business to transact at Washington yesterday, the President was there to transact it, after having committed the great crime of spending five days at Long Branch. HORACE GREELEY, his rival, spent those five days in masquerading at Chautauqua as a wood-chopper, and in correcting proofs of editorial articles for the Tribune at the Union League Club. Still, it is a wicked shame that the President should ever leave Washington, even for two hours at a time, because the country might go all to the dogs during his absence. GREELEY would only be too happy to stay in the White House forever, if he could only get a chance. Catch him running away from that paradise of his dreams, even for a single day!

We would direct special attention to the estimates which have been finally passed for the purpose of providing for the cleaning of the streets. The sum is an exceedingly large one, equal to about $1,142,000 a year, and we believe that the tax-payers will agree with Controller GREEN in the statement that it might have been reduced without prejudice to the efficiency of the new Department. The estimates have been made without any special acquaintance with the work to be done and had the spending of the money been intrusted to men actuated by the spirit of reform, the community might fairly have expected the expenditure at the end of the year to prove a good deal less than the estimates. As it is, we may safely reckon that every dollar voted will be spent, though we may fall back upon the reasonable anticipation that by another year we shall be able to place this important department of local business in other hands than a Tammany Police Board.

The Local Committee of the Greeley faction is fast fading into obscurity. To-day we record the withdrawal of two members, Messrs. W. H. DRAPER and ANTHONY ALLAIRE. These gentlemen after explaining their opposition to the Cincinnati ticket say: "Believing the safety of our country would be perilled in the elevation of HORACE GREELEY to the Presidency, with his present political surroundings, and entertaining true Republican principles we are compelled to resign from the Committee."

Supporting the Liberal ticket in New-York is getting to be lonesome business for Republicans.

We print in another column some further elucidations of Gov. HOFFMAN's connection with the earlier frauds of the Tammany Ring. Let any impartial reader ask himself whether it is possible that a man who was so thoroughly familiar with the expenditures on armories and drill-rooms as is shown in his message of Jan. 20, 1868, to the Board of Supervisors, could have failed to know that the vouchers which passed under his personal inspection, and which we have already detailed, were of a fraudulent character? We shall fasten the guilt of these fraudulent warrants still more conclusively upon HOFFMAN, before we have done with the subject.

The State Senate will proceed to the investigation of Judge MCCUNN's case at 10 o'clock today. In denying the motion for adjournment the Senate fulfilled an obvious duty to itself and to the people. The list of absentees is short and will probably be reduced to-morrow. Till then, we suspend judgment on those who have stayed away without very sufficient reasons.

Democracy and "Southern Rights."

The Democratic papers of the United States have great confidence in the weakness of the popular memory. Their party is now about to enter on a Presidential campaign, and they declare beforehand that it is the champion of "Southern rights." They continually parade before their readers the old, old story that the South has been "oppressed," "outraged," "crushed," and so on through the long category of ambitious phrases. When we come to sift these, and find what it is that the Democrats really object to, it is that Congress enforced equal political and civil rights for the negroes, and authorized the President to suppress violent and organized resistance to the laws passed for that purpose. Do the Democratic writers suppose that the people have already forgotten what urgent necessity there was for such legislation, or how much has been accomplished by it? Do they think that any collection of epithets, however ingenious and plausible, can conceal facts with which the whole country long since became familiar?

Whatever else they may be, the Democrats of the South are essentially the "white man's party." They were so, of course, by tradition and necessity, when the end of the war brought them into political relations with the remainder of the country. They chose to remain so. The country had decided, in the most positive manner, that the former slaves should be recognized as citizens, with the same rights as other citizens. The Southern Democratic leaders chose to resist this decision. Some among them confined themselves to resistance at the ballot-box. The wisest undertook even to divide the negro vote, and to secure the monopoly of political authority by the aid of the negroes themselves. But a very considerable proportion of the Southern Democrats were not content with this. The extremists prepared to declare war on the negroes, and to undertake, by systematic intimidation, violence and oppression, to frighten or drive them from the polls. In this, they had the sympathy of the great mass of the Democratic papers and leaders of the North. Some few Southerners saw the danger of the new policy, and opposed it; but in the North it found little but apology and encouragement from Democrats. The conspiracy—for such it really was—was either ignored, or belittled, or represented as an assertion of rights that had been denied, and a protest against wrongs endured from negro constituencies. No recognition whatever was accorded by the Democratic writers to the rights of the negroes in the premises. When the "people of the South" were mentioned, the negroes were invariably omitted. When the "wrongs of the South" were recited, the negroes' wrongs—cruel as the grave though they were—were never included. And the Democrats have never to this day conceded that the legislation and constitutional amendments which guaranteed the liberty and civil and political rights of the South, however established as facts, are justified in law or right. They universally regard them today as political devices, which have deprived the Democratic Party of its supremacy in the South, which have enforced a condition of society odious to the Democracy, and which, if the opportunity offered, they would rejoice to see swept away again.

This is really the attitude of the Democratic Press today. If the late amendments are conceded to be parts of the Constitution, it is only because it is seen to be a perpetual bar to return to power to deny that fact. But they are none the less odious. The stock in politics of the party is still the old cry of oppression at the South, meaning the enforcement of these very amendments. Have those Republicans who incline to accept a Democratic coalition reflected on the actual spirit and purpose of the Democracy? Less than a year ago the most active members of that party in the Southern States were enlisted in the Kuklux Klan, and were engaged in preventing the negroes from voting the Republican ticket by a concerted system of whipping, maiming and shooting. That system was abandoned, only when the strong arm of the Federal Government threatened its authors with the penalties they so richly deserved. The spirit which prompted, the object for which it was pursued, remain; the men who were engaged in it are still active Democrats of the South. Is there any reason to suppose that renewal of opportunity would not bring a renewal of their operations? Does any sane Republican suppose that, if the Democrats elect to control the next Presidency, the negro vote of the South can be fairly and safely polled? The South has suffered much from bad local government, which is gradually and steadily yielding before the awakened energy of the best Southern men of both parties. The election of a Democratic or quasi Democratic President would bring this process to a dead stand-still, and substitute for the evils of "carpet-baggers" the worse evils sure to attend the secession of the Kuklux and their friends and allies.

Come to the Point.

The following appeared in the Tammany candidate's organ yesterday:

"GRANT surely does not expect to run alone, and, if GREELEY be his weakest antagonist, why have the Federal office-holders palpably done their worst to get a Bourbon ticket nominated at Baltimore? Do they want the candidate hardest or easiest to beat nominated there? Do use your common sense—you who have any."

The last proviso is a very necessary one for the organ of the Sage to put in; it is quite evident that there is no superabundance of common sense among poor GREELEY's friends, just now.

But let there be no misunderstanding on one of the points referred to above. "Federal office-holders" (like the regal rabble who attended the Philadelphia Convention) and "Grant organs," (among which we are proud to be numbered) have never tried, and never will try, to prevent the Democrats nominating GREELEY at Baltimore. We are decidedly anxious to see them do it. We can beat the Democrats any way, and we can beat them all the more decidedly if they have a Republican traitor at their head—because the people cannot bear traitors. In short, what Republicans most desire is to see GREELEY nominated at Baltimore. We believe this is the universal sentiment of the friends of the Republican Party. Let us see all our enemies before us in a solid phalanx, and then march in and give them a good whipping.

It is of no use, therefore, for the Greeley (Democratic) organ to go on maundering and slobbering about the "Federal office-holders" conspiring to defeat his nomination at Baltimore. We believe not ten sound Republicans can be found who would move a finger to prevent the Democrats rushing to the certain ruin which would follow their nomination of GREELEY. So decided are our convictions on the subject that we are half sorry to speak in a manner which may act as a warning. But the Democratic leaders are generally too thick-headed to take warnings, and it is necessary to place on distinct record the fact that the friends of the Administration would not for the world prevent GREELEY's nomination at Baltimore. The Greeleyites may get up a fresh hullabaloo about Mr. MURPHY and all the rest of it, but they cannot find the first man connected with the Republican Party who would control the Baltimore Convention adversely to GREELEY's hope. Let the Sage get this fact into his head, if he can—he may depend upon it that it is a fact. If he doubts it, let him break through the circle of gamblers, Tammany politicians, and flatterers which surrounds him, and ask some real friend to tell him the plain truth.

The Hoboken Frauds.

According to a special arrangement, the trial of FREDERICK E. ROMALD, the defaulting City Clerk of Hoboken, N. J., will be commenced on the 20th inst. ROMALD is charged with having defrauded the tax-payers of Hoboken out of a specific sum of $9,240, held by him in trust as their servant. The case is one of peculiar interest, for the reason that the witnesses for the prosecution are expected to give testimony which may involve other parties who are suspected of having perpetrated frauds of considerable magnitude. The opportunity thus afforded for bringing to light some of the rascalities of the notorious Hoboken "Ring," is considered very favorable, and will probably have a good result, although to our mind an investigation of so much importance ought not to have been postponed for the mere purpose of "seeing what might be seen." If we are not very much in error, there has been enough evidence accumulated for months past to warrant the arrest of the leaders of the corrupt gang who have so shamelessly robbed the property-owners in the before-mentioned city. In another part of Hudson County—Jersey City—very little difficulty has been experienced in using the proverbial "Jersey justice" to make an example of men who had once been honored and trusted by the community; and we are much surprised that the public-spirited men of Hoboken have been so slow in dragging their thieves before a jury also. The frauds have been so glaring that it would not require a great effort to set the machinery of the law in motion. The line of conduct pursued in the awarding of contracts for the so-called improvement of streets reveals a system of deliberate robbery which would be sufficient in itself to secure the conviction of the parties concerned without the aid of any further testimony. First of all, it has been proved that streets were opened across the meadows to the foot of a hill which could scarcely be climbed by a goat, and that this work was done without the legal formality of a petition to the Common Council from a majority of the property-owners supposed to be benefited. Then, again, the contract was awarded to two men—COUGHLIN & CALLAHAN—at prices very much higher than those of BRADLEY FISHER, a rival contractor, as may be seen from the following exhibit:

	Fisher.	C. & C.
Earth filling per cubic yard	31 75	61 25
Curbing, per lineal foot	62	90
Gutters, per lineal foot	22	35
Flagging, per lineal foot	22	35
Bore drains, per lineal foot	1 00	1 00
Open drains, per lineal foot	30	1 00

Mr. FISHER bears the reputation of being a perfectly responsible contractor; yet his bids were rejected, in order that COUGHLIN & CALLAHAN, the "Ring" favorites, might have the job. A comparison of the bids shows that in the single item of open drains this firm received ten times more per lineal foot than Mr. FISHER was willing and anxious to take the contract at. The plans and estimates of one of the "jobs" were the work of a Mr. ABAHAM L. DU POCKET, a professional person, who has been accorded the credit of having given important assistance to the "Ring." For the trifling matter of driving a stake here and there along a line less than twenty-five thousand feet on one street, and 1,800 on another, he charged some $4,275. Mr. DU POCKET, it is said, tried very hard to have himself appointed the official Surveyor of the city; but the tax-payers, sluggish though they have been in other respects, rose indignantly against the scheme, and the members of the Common Council were afraid to set their protest at defiance. An idea of the character of the improvements made in the different wards may be gathered from the fact that, in some instances, the assessments upon the lots supposed to be benefited were almost twice as great as their entire value.

The proprietor of one of the principal New-York hotels, who had some property in Hoboken, was called upon to pay an assessment of this nature. His reply was: "Gentlemen, take the lots; I would have been glad to have sold them at one-half your assessments." Many other property owners, not caring to undertake an expensive litigation, were induced to act in a similar manner. In the face of testimony like this, it seems unaccountable that the thieves should be allowed to enjoy their plunder so long, without any attempt having been made to bring them to trial. Nevertheless, this appears to be the case, and the "Reformers," who don't care to take the initiative in a public prosecution, are now in hopes that a basis of operations may be found in the proofs of fraud to be elicited from the evidence of the witnesses against ROMALD.

A Tragical Mystery.

On the morning of the 27th ult., two men went into a store in the town of West Overton, Ohio, and bought a pint of whisky. The younger and smaller of the two, who was well dressed and looked respectable, paid for the spirit, and the pair went off. Next morning, the younger man was found insensible, and apparently dead drunk, under the shed of a stable; and on Tuesday he died. There were no marks of violence on his body, but his coat was missing, and all his pockets had been turned inside out. His companion of the day before was nowhere to be found. An inquest was held, but nothing further was elicited than we have told. The facts warranted suspicion of the missing stranger, but neither his discovery nor that of anything else that would throw light on the affair has yet been heard of.

So far the story is strange, although there have been stories like it before. That two unknown persons should appear in a certain place, and one subsequently be found dying or dead, while the other has taken himself off, is, unhappily, no novelty. There are, to be sure, points in the case of some peculiarity. If the whisky was poisoned, for example, and both men were drunk, how came one of them to escape? If the second man crawled away to some as yet undiscovered retreat to die, why should he take his friend's coat, or rifle his pockets? The speculative interest, however, that attaches to these, or other like inquiries, pales before that of a collateral incident which is little short of miraculous. When the inquest was ended, a man who had witnessed the proceedings stepped forward, and said that the corpse was that of one HIRAM CHRIST, of Reagansport. On this, several others who had known Mr. CHRIST during life, were found, who affirmed his identity with the body before them. Next, the father of CHRIST was sent for, who, on seeing the corpse, promptly declared it to be that of his son. On examining more closely, however, the father was unable to find a scar on the chin of the deceased, and another on the foot, which, during life, existed. This was rather staggering, but somebody came forward with the plausible suggestion that scars often disappeared after death—why or wherefore was not set forth. Meanwhile, the mother of HIRAM arrived, and she also at once said the body was her son's. Yet she, also, not finding the "mark on the chin and the split in the toe," hesitated, and was left in the most painful perplexity, vacillating between hope and fear.

At this point a bright idea occurred to the father. He remembered that when his son was last at home, he had bought a pair of boots. He complained, on coming home, that one of these was too tight, and on examination found that the boots were of different numbers, one being a number eight, the others a number seven. The son remarked that he hated to take them back, and guessed he'd keep them as they were. Mr. CHRIST, Sr., having related this incident, the boots worn by the corpse were closely inspected, when, wonderful to say, one was found to be a number eight and the other a number seven. This certainly seemed conclusive, and was accepted as such by the bystanders, although the parents could not feel entirely convinced in the absence of the scars. Presently HIRAM's sisters were sent for, and arrived only to increase the common perplexity, for one insisted at once that the body was that of her dear brother, while the other as positively declared it was not. Two days passed, and no more satisfactory understanding could be reached. It became necessary to bury the deceased. Whether the corpse was that of HIRAM CHRIST, or what became of somebody else, it was requisite that it should be interred. This was accordingly done, and the strange spectacle was presented of the sisters attending the funeral, while the parents refused to do so. After the obsequies, a messenger was dispatched by the father to seek out his son. The latter had been sent, it transpired, by his employer to McKeesport, a short time before. To this place he was followed; but, on inquiry, it was found that he had disappeared, and the most diligent search failed to reveal the slightest trace of him. The father and mother, in great sorrow, reluctantly admitted that they must have been in error respecting the identity of the body, and orders were given for its disinterment and removal to the family burying-place, to which they had refused it admittance before. This proceeding was begun, but it was never consummated. It was interrupted, in fact, by the singular circumstance that Mr. HIRAM CHRIST walked quietly into the paternal mansion.

That young man, it appears, had been temporarily absent from McKeesport, had returned, been apprised of the proceedings at West Overton, and instantly went thither "to set things right." He was resolved, like Dos Cosas de Bazan, to prove that he was neither dead nor buried; and this having the advantage of the corpse in possessing both "the mark on the chin and the split in the toe," he had no difficulty in effecting to the general satisfaction. It has thus been established, in spite of the astonishing resemblance, and the still more astonishing coincidence of the boots, that the dead man is not HIRAM CHRIST; but who he is, or what killed him, or who or where his companion is, are points still undecided, and which, from the utter absence of any clue, are probably destined to remain enveloped in mystery.

Book Peddling.

The high prices of book material, and the increasing means of the public libraries, are having a somewhat remarkable effect on the book business of this country. It is well known that there have always been two entirely distinct branches of book-publishing in the United States: the regular trade, dealing through book-stores and book auction sales, which mainly reach the inhabitants of cities and towns, and the more quiet, but vastly extended business, through "book agents" in country districts. The two are as distinct as any two branches of trade can be. The books of the one are often never heard of among the customers of the other.

Thus, a Hartford "agency-house" will take up some work of a rather solid and useful character—say a history of the Bible or an analysis of its texts—with profuse illustrations and handsomely bound, and will put its machinery on it and sell it from one end of the Union to the other among the farmers and the people of villages. And yet the work will never be heard of by the critics; it will not appear in public libraries; it will not be noticed or advertised in the journals. The intellectual and scholastic world will hardly know of it. But its sales will count by the fifties and hundreds of thousands. To accomplish this, the agency-house must have a high-priced book, and one of some value or general interest. A low-priced book, or a too sensational one, is of no value to them. The agent himself must receive from fifty to sixty per cent. of its price. The publisher has but a small profit on each volume, and the author but a few cents, but the compensation to both is derived from the enormous sales.

The most desirable work for agents is some new and striking book upon the Bible. Then, when the book is prepared, an army of these men and women are set on foot, and scattered over the whole land, through the farms and villages. They go from house to house with their volume. They descant on its merits, argue against objections, present its good qualities, and finally, by eloquence and persuasion, induce the good housewife to purchase. Thus selling, perhaps, each, but half a dozen or a dozen copies per day, they can make a handsome profit over all their expenses. And, without intending it, they become, in fact, a kind of carriers of civilization to all the remote and lonely rural districts.

Many of our readers must have been struck, in visiting solitary country farm-houses, to see what an excellent class of solid books had been thus dropped among them. The peddler becomes a teacher and a librarian for the farmers. By means of this machinery a book like KITTO's History of the Bible has reached the vast sale of 227,000 copies. Under the other machinery—that is, of the ordinary trade—the sales are usually between 2,000 and 5,000. We believe it is rare for any book, except a very popular novel or a school-book, to obtain a sale higher than 5,000 copies. The publisher's profits, of course, are large, and the author's receipts small on each copy. People are more and more finding books so expensive and luxurious so accommodating, that they are ceasing to patronize the regular trade. They either buy from agents or read in public libraries. Authorship does not pay in America with the regular publishers. This is one reason, among others, that our literature improves so slowly, and our people depend so much on foreign works.

The agency business is evidently to be the profitable branch of the book business, both for author and publisher. And, as a trade, it will no doubt continually improve. It will present a higher style of pictorial illustrations; for, it must be confessed, that the present is not subversive to the esthetic mind. It will offer works of a more original and stronger character, and will gradually fill up the farm-houses of the country with a literature both solid and attractive. It is with books, perhaps, as with articles in shops, the customer likes to be persuaded, and to hear the virtues exalted of the work he would purchase. Then the immense majority of our population live away from libraries, and reading-rooms, and book-shops. The "agent" is the merchant of the thoughts of the world to them, and brings them home to the civilization. We expect to see an enormous increase of this branch of book-selling and publishing in the future.

Greeley's Connection With Tweed.

The Chicago Tribune has the impudence to deny the fact that GREELEY was ever mixed up in any way with TWEED. Its ignorance of New-York politics may be some excuse for its not being aware that GREELEY tried hard to shield the Tammany Ring all last year; that his acknowledged friends, ALVORD and Tom FIELDS, combined with the corrupt Ring in the Legislature, to defeat every Reform measure; and that the "honest wood-chopper's" principal supporters in this City now are Waldo Hutchins, A. Oakey Hall, Sheriff Brennan, Morrissey, and Bob Wood. These are notorious facts, although they may still be unheard of in the office of the Chicago Tribune.

But if more evidence is wanted of GREELEY's intimate personal connections with TWEED & Co., here you have it, in official and certified copies, accompanied with sworn affidavits of the deed of a certain Company:

State of New-York, City and County of New-York, ss.—We, Nathaniel Sands, Moses H. Grinnell, HORACE GREELEY, Samuel W. Barnard, Wm. M. Tweed, Henry C. Holly, Henry Holdrege, Courtlandt Palmer, Jr., and Albert S. Yeaton, all of the said City, County and State, do hereby certify that we desire to form a company, pursuant to the provisions of an act of the Legislature of the State of New-York, passed Feb. 1, 1848, entitled "An act to authorize the formation of corporations for manufacturing, mining, mechanical or chemical purposes," and of the several acts of the said Legislature amending and extending the provisions of said "act." That the corporate name of the said Company is to be "The Tobacco Manufacturers' Association." That the objects for which said Company is to be formed are to manufacturing tobacco and cigars by machinery and otherwise, and for manufacturing machinery and utensils for the purpose of manufacturing tobacco and cigars, and for purchasing all the proper stock, tobacco, materials, utensils and machinery, for the purpose of manufacturing tobacco, cigars, utensils and machinery, and also for the further purpose of selling the tobacco, cigars, utensils and machinery so to be manufactured as aforesaid. That the amount of the capital stock of said Company is to be one hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars. That the term of the existence of said Company is to be fifty years. That the number of shares of which said capital stock is to consist is to be seventeen hundred and fifty. That the number of the trustees who shall manage the concerns of said Company for the first year is nine, and the names of such trustees are Nathaniel Sands, Moses H. Grinnell, Horace Greeley, Samuel W. Barnard, William M. Tweed, Henry C. Holly, Henry Holdrege, Courtlandt Palmer, Jr., and Albert S. Yeaton, and that the operations of said Company are to be carried on in the City, County and State of New-York.

MINOR TOPICS.

An evening Republican paper credits Mr. CORBETT, United States Senator from Oregon, with being a Democrat, and also a Greeley man. This is an amazing error. Mr. CORBETT is a sound Republican, in no wise tainted with Greeleyism, who has been very active in organizing the party in his State. To the victory which determines the result of the elections in Oregon, California, and probably Nevada, in November, he largely contributed.

The Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia has just decided that the clause in the present Constitution of that State, relating to debts contracted prior to its adoption, is void, for the reason that it is in violation of the Constitution of the United States. The decision has been received with great satisfaction by planters, who have been so harassed by old debts as to be unable to undertake the by no means easy task of restoring the position held by them before the war. Under the ruling of the Court, they will be no longer subject to the organized persecutions of greedy creditors, whose cruel exactions have so far done more than anything else to impede the agricultural prosperity of the Old Dominion.

Some of the numerous attachés of the Department of Public Works, who are at present in fear of decapitation, might be usefully employed in preparing a report of the condition of the sidewalks throughout the City, with the view of having certain dangerous defects in the shape of holes and other traps for leg-breaking put in a state of repair as speedily as possible. In several of the most populous thoroughfares, the flagging has been gradually loosened by the action of the rain, until pedestrians are no longer safe from compound fractures, unless they tread their way slowly, and keep their eyes constantly bent upon the ground. There is now good reason to expect that we shall soon have clean streets, and Commissioner VAN NORT should see to it that we also have well-kept sidewalks.

War is raging in Central America between the allied Republics of Guatemala and Salvador on the one hand, and Honduras on the other. It rages very mildly, however, after the usual Central American pattern, and we hear of no battles, not even skirmishes. The people of those tropical regions rarely fight with much energy, except in small parties on some contested point in a game of cards. When they go to war with a neighboring republic, the two hostile armies march out, encamp in an eligible locality, and quietly enjoy the fun until both have lost a few hundred men, when they march home again, and agree to make peace. Occasionally an inquisitive scout is shot, or an officer assassinated, but their campaigns, as a rule, are nearly bloodless. For all that, the Central Americans can fight upon occasion, as was shown when they met WALKER's filibusters at Rivas and elsewhere.

There is a dog in some western locality who has recently exasperated his neighbors, and flown, so to speak, in the faces of men of science. His mistress died of the small-pox, and this misanthropical animal immediately proceeded to fall ill of the same disease. Having thus made himself an efficient medium for the inoculation of small-pox, he immediately went upon a tour of the neighboring country, and by impudent familiarities, with every one whom he met, succeeded in widely spreading the disease. A more reprehensible dog has seldom been heard of, and it is to be hoped that his example will not inspire other malicious dogs to do likewise. There are those, however, who will still cling to the scientific theory that a dog cannot contract the genuine small-pox, and will lightly put aside this interesting story as the invention of some unscrupulous western editor.

The correspondent of a contemporary has had an interview with Judge STANLEY MATTHEWS, the temporary Chairman of the Cincinnati Convention, and this is the conversation reported:

"Judge, are you going to the conference at New-York on the 20th?"

"No, Sir," he replied. "When the call was presented to me I declined to sign it. I regard the race for the Presidency as settled between GRANT and GREELEY, and between the two I go for GRANT."

"Then you do not think the conference at New-York on the 20th will result in harmonizing all the elements of opposition to GRANT and GREELEY?"

"Not by any means," he answered. "I do not think it is called for that purpose, and if it is it will fail far short of its mark. That a man coming from Ohio to it will support GREELEY under any circumstances I do not believe."

There is scarcely a respectable man to be found anywhere who supports GREELEY. Was there ever such a dance as that upon which the perpetual dupe is now being led?

THE GREELEY COMMITTEE.

Resignation of Two of Its Members—Their Reasons for the Step.

The following letters, written by Messrs. WM. H. DRAPER and ANTHONY ALLAIRE, resigning their positions as members of the "Union Republican Committee," will be found interesting:

NEW-YORK, June 11, 1872.

Hon. Thos. E. Stewart:

DEAR SIR: Having in connection with our mutual friend, Wm. H. DRAPER, withdrawn from the association over which you preside in consideration of our long acquaintance, and my high regard for you, I submit for your consideration my reasons for so doing. I joined your organization, taking it to be the true and legitimate representative of the Republican voters of this City. Its action indorsing the Cincinnati Convention, in my judgment, was not in accordance with the sentiments of the Republican voters of this City.

I look upon the action of that Convention as one that no genuine Republican can subscribe to. The delegates present from most of the States were not properly constituted; they were a self-appointed body, and the one from this State did not represent any organization, as there were no meetings of any association to select delegates to represent them. Contrast the Convention at Cincinnati with the regular National Republican Convention of 1868, at which there were the foremost men of the Republican Party, regularly elected and properly constituted. The nominee of the Cincinnati Convention is our honored and highly-esteemed fellow-citizen, HORACE GREELEY, a man whom I have followed from my youth up, from whom I imbibed my political ideas, who taught me to be a Republican; a man who taught me to condemn Tammany thieves and corruptionists in office; who learned me to look upon political bargains and unholy alliances as emanating from a corrupt mind. When I see him consorting with the very men with whom he has differed all his entire life—men who could never reconcile him, or be them, were it not that there was something rotten in the political atmosphere; when I see him courting the favor of the Democratic Press, when I see the Tammany Party his strongest ally, which I see by former friends and party I deserting him, I cannot consistently any longer remain a member of your Committee, which has indorsed him as their candidate. Why is the Democratic Party so strong in his support? Has he not been their life-long opponent? Since the fact has been pretty conclusively established that a corrupt bargain has been made that GREELEY should be supported by the Democratic Party, and that the Greeley wing should support in lieu the Democratic candidate for Congress, and in this State the Legislature, thus securing the election of HOFFMAN as United States Senator, and what we as Republicans should above all avoid, a Democratic Congress.

Sir, the leaders of the Democratic Party known by the election of Mr. GREELEY they would virtually have the Government in their own hands, that they could entirely unloose and subdue him to their will. Go his record from the South did he not advocate the passage of a stringent Kuklux law, and has he not since it has been passed by Congress deprecated it? I will not enumerate his acts of late which have contravened his former assertions and doctrines. They are matters of history, and have been fully commented upon by the Press, and of which you are fully conversant. One so inconsistent in his acts, so lacking in firmness and decision of character, I hope never will be President of the United States. If elected, would it not be considered the reaction of the Democratic to power? And can we, as Republicans, lend ourselves to such an event? If, in the seeking of office, a man, thinking he will achieve success by a course of action that will cause him to desert his old friends, he must not think it strange if they do not follow him to seek new pools. Is it not, did HORACE GREELEY ever utter anything in condemnation of Gen. GRANT until the Cincinnati Convention was broached and he was talked of as a candidate. He always warmly commended him for his administration of his office, giving us the figures every month, showing the reduction of the public debt, arraying that was the best commentary of his honest and prudential policy. Every reader of the Tribune knows what I assert to be true. It is sufficient for me to know that the National Republican Convention gave him an unanimous nomination, and as Republicans, that should cause all differences in our ranks to cease, and we should all rally to his support, as the nominee of our Convention, and the exponent of our principles. I know the tongues of envious men have vilified and abused him, and in their attempts they have so overshot the mark and been so malevolent and untrue in their attacks, that they have recoiled upon their authors and created such a sympathy for him, that, in the main, their attacks have redounded to his benefit.

I honor Gen. GRANT for appointing his father, in his old age, to the position of Postmaster. I have yet to learn when he has given any relative a position where they have betrayed their trusts. The greatest fault we could lay at the door of Gen. GRANT, was his removal of some of his former appointees to office, and making in their place injudicious appointments. To the latter number of offices to be filled, unnecessarily coming under his control, who would not have made some mistakes?

No one, in their calm and deliberate judgment, doubts Gen. GRANT's honesty and integrity, his firmness and decision of character, and all the qualifications that make a good executive. As he says in his letter of acceptance this morning, his past experience will guide him in avoiding mistakes that are inevitable to novices in all professions. Another reason for supporting GRANT in this contest is that I have yet to learn of any Republican friend of mine, instead of your committee, supporting GREELEY, while every Democrat I meet is loud in his praise. But I find what I intended to be a short note has grown to be a long letter, in giving you a few of my reasons for resigning from your Committee, and in closing, allow me to quote that treasured perversion of DARWIN, Webster's one of his great speeches, in regard to a true Whig Party, as now applicable to the Republican—"I see no light above the horizon promising to guide us, but the united and undivided Republican Party of the United States." Allow me to assure you that I am deeply sensible of the kindness shown to me by you, and whatever course you take politically it will not detract from my esteem and friendship for you. But sincerely hoping that you will be found in the ranks of the true Republican Party, I am, yours always, ANTHONY ALLAIRE.

The undersigned, with our mutual friend Mr. ANTHONY ALLAIRE, holding you in high personal regard, has been induced to address you this communication in explanation of the course we have taken in resigning from the Union Republican Committee. Believing the safety of our country would be perilled in the elevation of HORACE GREELEY to the Presidency, with his present political surroundings, and entertaining true Republican principles, we are compelled to resign from the Committee.

Concurring cordially in the sentiment of the foregoing letter, and assuring you of my warm personal esteem, I remain your friend,

W. H. DRAPER.

THE HOFFMAN WARRANTS.

As already shown in the TIMES of the 4th inst., JOHN T. HOFFMAN, Mayor of New-York, during the first six months of 1868, certain County warrants amounting to $678,243. The fact that these payments were chiefly made to the notorious firms of INGERSOLL & Co., KEYSER & Co., and A. J. GARVEY affords a strong presumption that they were based upon claims of a more or less fraudulent character. We propose to make the presumption a certainty by giving some extracts from the vouchers under which the payments were made.

There are two charges to be brought home to HOFFMAN in regard to these warrants. 1. The vouchers upon which they were drawn were not certified as the law requires. 2. They contain items which are so ridiculously overcharged that it was impossible that the Mayor should have been ignorant of the fraud which they concealed. We shall take up the second point first. To illustrate the extent of the Mayor's responsibility in the premises, we quote the following from the testimony of Deputy Controller STORRS before the Investigating Committee of citizens, in September last:

Q. After the accounts and pay-rolls are examined in the Auditing Bureau, what mark, stamp or certificate, if either, is affixed to them, to indicate that they have been examined and are correct?

A. The Auditor has a stamp with which he certifies that the claims have been examined and found to be correct.

Q. After claims have been audited and certified as you have stated, what is the next thing done with them?

A. The warrants are then prepared by a clerk, and then presented (attached to the bills) to the Controller for his signature.

Q. After the Controller has signed the warrants what does he do with them?

A. They are returned to the Auditing Bureau, and from there go to the Mayor for his countersignature.

Q. Do you mean that the accounts and pay rolls, for the payment of which warrants are drawn, are always sent with the warrants, to the Mayor for his inspection before he signs the warrants?

A. Yes, Sir; the bills, &c., are always sent to the Mayor for his inspection before he signs the warrants.

Q. The accounts are sent with the warrants?

A. Yes, Sir.

Q. Does it, or does it not, ever happen, that the Mayor returns warrants to the Controller without his counter-signature on them?

A. Yes, Sir; occasionally.

We suppose no sane man will pretend that MAYOR HOFFMAN was obliged to sign warrants which he believed to be fraudulent. The provision of law requiring claims against the City or County to pass the ordeal of inspection by several officials was designed, of course, for public protection. It proceeded on the assumption that, though rogues might obtain important offices under the City, it was unlikely that all the leading officials should, at any given time, be dishonest. How much a weak reliance on such protection has cost us, we all know. But, in estimating the millions of which the tax-payers has been plundered by the co-operation of TWEED, SWEENY, HALL and CONNOLLY, it must be remembered that there was an earlier Ring which could not have existed without the aid of JOHN T. HOFFMAN, and whose success in robbing the City of hundreds of thousands of dollars in 1868, prepared the way for the gigantic swindles of 1869-71.

In 1867, the expenditures on armories and drill rooms had been on a very extravagant scale, as the following figures from the published report of the Controller for 1867 will show:

For plastering, repairing and mason-work	$67,551 66
For carpets	5,297 83
For furniture, musket-racks and fitting up rooms various regiments	126,897 41
For painting various armories	19,486 67
For plumbing, heating and gas-fixtures	54,121 04
For fitting up armory on Twenty-sixth-street, between Seventh and Eighth avenues	18,825 42
For carpenter's repairs, various armories	31,280 18
For locks, mats and fixing railing	634 68
Eighth Regiment	3,000 00
Total	$317,014 79
For rent and services of armories	53,021 73
Total expended for armories and drill-rooms in 1867	$400,036 52

That HOFFMAN was perfectly familiar with the extraordinary proportions which this branch of expenditure had begun to assume, is shown very clearly by the following extracts from a message to the Board of Supervisors on Jan. 20, 1868:

MAYOR'S OFFICE, NEW-YORK, June 20, 1868.

To the Honorable the Board of Supervisors:

GENTLEMEN: I have this day approved an ordinance adopted by your honorable body, making certain appropriations for county purposes, and among others $850,000 for armories and drill-rooms by the National Guard, in compliance with the requirements of chapter 477 of the laws of 1862. I feel it my duty to inform you of this fact, and in the same connection to make your honorable body a few suggestions upon the subject of appropriations and expenditures for this account. The appropriations for armories last year were very large, and the expenditures were greatly in excess of the appropriations. Desirous as I have always been to strengthen and encourage the National Guard, as far as was just and proper, I felt constrained, nevertheless, on several occasions during the last year, to withhold my signature from bills presented and audited for supplies and repairs as excessive, because I deemed them unnecessarily large. THAMMANY, however, as they had been audited by your honorable body as the legally constituted Auditing Board of the County, and in all cases nearly by a unanimous vote, I did not interpose a veto, but merely withheld my signature, thus manifesting my disapprobation of the expenditures, (etc.) When the ordinance which I have this day approved, was presented to me, I made inquiries to ascertain the amounts that the appropriations for rents of armories and for other expenses incident thereto, already authorized, and found they amounted to a very large sum. I also ascertained that the annual rents for armories for 1868 amount to $66,000. To pay these rents and the liabilities already incurred by your honorable body, nearly the whole of the appropriation now made will be required, and I respectfully submit that for the present all further expenditures for this account should cease, except such as may be upon the most careful examination, found to be absolutely necessary to preserve and protect the public property. * * * There should be less lavishness and more economy. All expenditures should be carefully scrutinized. They should be certified to by the officers of each regiment, and the prices charged should be carefully considered by your honorable body. * * * I hope that I shall not be called upon again this year to give my approval or sanction to any further appropriations for this account, which I have referred. The balance of the appropriation now made, after paying existing liabilities and securing rents, should be, and I trust will be, sufficient to meet all the contingent necessary expenses for armories for the current year.

JOHN T. HOFFMAN, Mayor.

The above, it will be perceived, is written in that style of lofty virtue which is quite a specialty with JOHN T. HOFFMAN. To understand its precise value compare it with his conduct during the very year of the beginning of which the message was written:

The Controller's report of the finances for 1868 shows expended on account of armories and drill-rooms for that year:

For plastering, repairing and mason-work	$117,166 97
For furniture, musket-racks, and fitting up rooms various regiments	203,218 21
For painting armories	9,769 66
For plumbing, heating and gas-fixtures	20,176 51
For carpenter-work, repairing of various armories	97,864 73
For carpets, &c.	900 00
Total	$519,167 41
For rent and services of armories	137,889 69
Total expended for armories and drill-rooms in 1868	$650,007 10

Of the $519,167 41 expended for repairs, furniture and fittings, Mayor HOFFMAN signed, between the 30th January and 14th July inclusive, warrants to five firms, as follows:

To Ingersoll & Co.	$24,644 78
To Ingersoll and Watson	31,510 49
To A. J. Garvey	65,344 47
To C. S. Miller	48,573 66
To Keyser & Co.	45,787 47
Total	$204,860 84
Miscellaneous	12,633 58
Grand total	$217,494 42

It is perfectly certain that a very large proportion of the work thus paid for was never performed at all. Of this HOFFMAN could have very easily satisfied himself, by simply enforcing his own suggestion that all armory bills should be certified to by the officers of the regiment at whose armory the work was alleged to have been done. Not only did he disregard this simple precaution, before putting his name to warrants upon the County Treasury in payment of these claims, but gave his approval to bills, as we shall show more in detail hereafter, which did not bear attached to them the affidavit which the law requires. Had he been sincerely desirous to prevent fraud, he would certainly not have neglected both these precautions, and had he not been an accessory to the fraud he would never have authorized the payment of bills containing items like these.

For armory Thirty-seventh Regiment, County of New-York, to INGERSOLL & Co.: 1868.

April 21.—For making and putting up ten cases of black-walnut, with glass doors, &c., at $864 ..... $8,640

Valued by experts at $60 per case 600

Not steal $8,040

County of New-York, To Ingersoll & Co., For Armory Third Regiment Cavalry, 1868.

Feb. 20.—Two desks, with high tops, &c., and 10 cases for 80 carbines and 80 sabres, &c., complete $8,536

Probable value 720

Not steal $5,816

We hardly imagine that anybody will urge in defense of Mayor HOFFMAN that he had never been inside of an armory, and could not, therefore, tell what a gun-rack was like. Even such people, however, will be prepared to admit that he must have had some idea of the value of a strong cane-bottomed chair. Had Mayor HOFFMAN been signing a check for his own cabinet-maker's bill, would he have passed without remark an item like this in INGERSOLL'S bill against the County for furniture to the armory of the Sixty-ninth Regiment?

Ten dozen heavy cane-seat chairs with double front rounds, at $9 ..... $1,080

We believe the Mayor, even had he bought only half a dozen of these necessary articles, would have refused to pay over $8 apiece for them. Had he served the public as faithfully as he would have cared for his own purse, he would obviously have refused to lend his aid to swindles so egregious as these.

The items quoted are taken from vouchers against which a warrant was drawn in favor of INGERSOLL & Co., on June 30, 1868, amounting to $54,040 18. Judging from the samples given, it may be safely assumed that even supposing the articles detailed to have been actually furnished, their value is fully covered by the four thousand odd dollars above stated, and that there was a clear fraud in this one warrant of at least $50,000. The vouchers which accompany the warrant are short, and a five minutes' inspection would have shown any man who wanted to know the truth that they were full of the most outrageous and fraudulent overcharges. In spite of his fine words in January, Mayor HOFFMAN had not five minutes to spare for such a purpose. He was, in short, privy to the fraud, and kept signing away the public money on just such claims as these, until he took fright and got COMAN to do the dirty work for him.

LOCAL POLITICS.

Meeting of the Central Republican Committee.

The regular meeting of the Central Republican Committee was held last evening at head-quarters, Mr. JOHN J. TOWNSEND, Chairman, presiding.

JOEL W. MASON and PHILIP SCHWARTZ were announced as delegates from the Seventeenth District, as substitutes for JOHN R. RUSSELL and AUGUST WASSERCHELL, resigned.

The Executive Committee reported the appointment of a subcommittee to report a plan for representation in the districts which have been divided by the new apportionment.

Mr. JOHN J. WHITE then spoke of the Philadelphia Convention, which he had attended as an alternate, and in the course of his remarks, said that the unanimity and enthusiasm of that gathering predicted as great a success at this election as in 1860. As a matter of form, he moved the adoption of the Philadelphia resolutions and the platform.

These were unanimously adopted, and after a brief discussion the meeting adjourned subject to call.

Other Meetings.

A grand mass-meeting and banner-raising of the Grant and Wilson Campaign Club of the Twenty-first Ward Assembly District Union Republican Association was held last evening at No. 2,213 Third-avenue, the President, Mr. Wm. T. HANNIGAN, in the chair. A fine banner, bearing representations of GRANT and WILSON, ornamented by appropriate devices, was unfurled in front of the Club, amid great cheering for the nominees of the Philadelphia Convention.

The usual routine business was disposed with by consent, and on the motion of Mr. WM. HAWES, Jr., the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we congratulate the Republicans of the country on the auspicious result achieved by the Liberal Convention at Philadelphia on the 5th and 6th inst., and that we heartily indorse the platform and principles there adopted.

Resolved, That considering as true and tried and worthy Republicans the nominees of ULYSSES S. GRANT and HENRY WILSON, we hereby pledge them our hearty and unwavering support, and confidently predict their triumphant election.

Mr. E. DELAFIELD SMITH then addressed the meeting in a stirring speech. He was followed by CHARLES H. CROSWELL, HENRY S. GENET, Alderman HALE and others, and the meeting adjourned with cheers for GRANT and WILSON.

The Republicans of the Second Assembly District met last evening at No. 154 Chatham-street, and organized a Grant and Wilson Campaign Club by the election of GEORGES LEARY, President; CHARLES WALKER, Secretary, and DAVID DWYER, Treasurer. A number of members were enrolled, and a committee was appointed to secure a transparency to be raised at the head-quarters of the Club.

The German Republicans of the Ninth Assembly District held a meeting last evening at their Head-quarters, No. 405 Hudson-street. Resolutions were unanimously adopted endorsing the Philadelphia Convention, and pledging the association to use all honorable means to elect GRANT and WILSON. A Grant and Wilson Campaign Club was then organized, and H. M. MEYER elected President, F. MEYER, Secretary, and Jacob Lehrfeld and C. Hoffmann Committee on Central Campaign Committee.

The German Republican Association of the Eleventh Assembly District held a meeting on Monday at Woodruff Hall, Eighth-avenue, E. LEHMAN presiding. Resolutions were passed indorsing the candidates and platform of the Philadelphia Convention, and pledging the hearty support of the Association for their victory. It was then resolved to form a Grant and Wilson Campaign Club, and further, to send a committee to the Associations of the Thirteenth and Nineteenth Assembly Districts to form one large Congressional District Association for the campaign. After some brief discussion the meeting adjourned, with cheers for GRANT and WILSON.

The Sixteenth Assembly District Greeley Republican Association held their regular meeting, last evening, at Demilt Hall, and organized a Grant and Wilson Campaign Club.

CENTRAL AND SOUTH AMERICA.

More About the Edgar Stewart—Guatemala, Honduras and Salvador—The Elections in Costa Rica—The Aftermath Miserable.

KINGSTON, Jam., June 2.—The following is the latest news received at this point from Central and South America:

GUATEMALA, June 4.—It is pretty generally believed that a corsair called the Oyos Amarillo, which left Carthagena recently with arms and ammunition, is bound for the island of Cuba.

A firm of Barranquilla have entered into a contract with the Government of New-Grenada to lay a submarine cable from Aspinwall to Carthagena and Santa Marthe.

ASPINWALL.

The filibustering steamer Edgar Stewart, which escaped from the United States steamer Wyoming and the Spanish steamer Francisco de Borya on the 14th of May, arrived at Aspinwall on the 31st. After escaping from her pursuers she made an attempt to run into the coast of Cuba, where she landed a boat with four men; but having been seen by a Spanish gun-boat she again ran away in the direction of Jamaica. She was fired at several times, but her great speed enabled her to escape capture and reach Aspinwall. The boat from the Edgar Stewart reached Port Maria on the north side of Jamaica, with the four men who had been for three days without food or water. On the arrival of the Edgar Stewart at Aspinwall the Cubans on board rose against the Captain because he insisted upon selling for an American port, as he had been directed to do by the United States Vice-Consul, while they were determined to land in Cuba. The Wyoming, however, hove in sight, and the Captain of the Edgar Stewart immediately hoisted the American flag, union down, when a boat was sent from the Wyoming to see what was the matter. The Cubans, seeing this, made their escape to shore, and now threaten to assassinate the Captain, if they can only lay hold of him. The Captain of the Wyoming, then took charge of the Edgar Stewart, in the name of the United States Government, to protect American interests. The Captain of the Edgar Stewart now wishes to sell 700 stand of arms, to pay off his crew, he having no money wherewith to discharge the obligations of the ship. It is believed the Cubans intended to have taken on board the cargo of the Virginius, which is lying at Aspinwall, and to have sailed with it for Cuba. The Government of the State of Panama are not pleased with the proceedings of the acting American Consul and Capt. DAVIS, of the Wyoming, but beyond grumbling they take no part.

GUATEMALA.

Gen. RUFINO BARRIOS has refused the portfolio of Minister of War so as to take an active part in the war against Honduras. There is no fear of a commercial crisis in Guatemala on account of the war. Money is at eight per cent. interest, and discounts at one per cent. for short periods.

SALVADOR.

Don ERARISTO CARAZO, the Envoy of Peace from Nicaragua, has arrived at the capital, and been well received by President GONZALES.

HONDURAS.

President MEDINA is reported as having fortified himself in the city of Gracias, expecting an attack from the allied forces of Salvador and Guatemala but in the meantime a revolution has broken out in Honduras, the object being to overthrow the administration of MEDINA while he is in the field.

COSTA RICA.

The elections in this Republic have passed off very quietly. There were few votes polled and no excitement. A large college, under the direction of European professors, has just been opened at Quito. In this college there are schools of art, including painting and sculpture, a polytechnic and an astronomical observatory, which are in full operation and working satisfactorily. A number of educational establishments are springing up in the Republic is steadily progressing in the path of civilization.

The Bank of Ecuador has notified the public that it will very shortly refuse to do business with merchants who do not protect their goods by insurance. It has for the present suspended drawing upon Europe, and exchange has fallen from one to three per cent. per cent. for ninety days paper on London, thirty-five per cent. on Paris, and forty per cent. for sixty days bills on New-York. Cocoa—Up river, $15; down river, $13 per quintal. Coffee, $16. India-rubber, $37.

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.

Troubles are threatened with Brazil. Several hundred Brazilian troops have been posted on the Island of Carrito, and two iron-clads are stationed off the island to resist the claims of the Argentine Republic thereto. An address of some kind has attacked three towns in Brazil, and carried off 3,000 out of 13,000 inhabitants. Five thousand dollars have been subscribed in Buenos Ayres to erect a statue of Gen. BRIGADO. The citizens of Cordova stoned the passengers of the General Railway and cut up some of the rails, declaring that the locomotive is a creature of the devil. The mob were urged to violence by the clergy. Yellow fever and small-pox prevail in malignant form at Montevideo.

BOLIVIA.

The excitement over the coming election is on the increase, and there are three candidates, President MORALES, Gen. OLAGUE and Dr. TAPIA. The Bolivian army is at La Paz.

PERU.

The town of Tombode Mora, 160 miles south of Callao, has been sacked by the montoneros. A similar outrage was perpetrated at Cerro Ayal. The electoral dispute is not yet settled. Congress will probably declare the late election void, and will appoint their favorite Provisional President. There was a hurricane at Arica on the 14th ult., which did much damage to property. The election in Arequipa passed off quietly. From Ica, it is learned that the Commission have discovered, south of Cucoto, an immense deposit of very fine guano, or the greatest value.

VENEZUELA.

The filibustering steamer Virginius is at Puerto Cabello, closely guarded by two Spanish frigates-of-war. One of the frigates attempted to cut out the Virginius, but the Venezuelan Government sent troops to protect her and manned the forts. On seeing this, the Spaniards desisted.

NICARAGUA.

Three routes for the proposed canal are being examined by the United States exploring expedition, under Capt. HATFIELD. The prospects for success are great. A grand banquet has been given in honor of Capt. HATFIELD and the surveying expedition.

CHILI.

Prof. AGASSIZ'S scientific expedition has arrived at Callao, and is about to proceed to Panama. Small-pox is on board the Chilian steamer also. The GUAYARAMANK is about to apply to Congress for power to raise a loan of $12,000,000 to defray the expenses of building a new mole and for railway purposes.

It is rumored that ADOLFO IBANEZ is about to be appointed Minister to Washington.

The small-pox is very bad at Serena.

There has been a very heavy snow-storm on the Cordilleras.

Probable Murder—A Man Stabbed in Front of His Door.

At 10½ o'clock on Monday night, JOHN LYNCH, a laborer, thirty-five years of age, residing at No. 500 West Twenty-eighth-street, was standing in front of his door in conversation with JOHN MCGOVERN, THOMAS CLARK, JAMES REILLY and another man. A quarrel grew up over a discussion about the Hibernian Order, when one of the men grossly insulted LYNCH, who turned to resent it, as he did so they attacked. Knocked him down and beat him. During the melée MCGOVERN, it is alleged, drew a pocket-knife and plunged it into LYNCH, inflicting a wound which it is feared will prove fatal. The assailants then fled. LYNCH was taken into his house, and the Police were notified. Yesterday MCGOVERN, CLARK and REILLY were arrested, and on being taken to LYNCH'S bedside were fully identified by him. They were then locked up. Coroner YOUNG was notified yesterday to take the ante-mortem deposition of the wounded man, but as LYNCH did not believe himself to be dying the Coroner did not deem it necessary to do so.

THE STREETS.

Agreement Upon Final Estimates for Street-Cleaning.

The New Department Fully Organized—One Hundred Thousand Dollars Wanted for Six Months.

The Mayor, Controller and President of the Board of Police met on the 11th inst., to revise the estimates of the Board of Police for street-cleaning, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 677 of the laws of 1872.

After the usual preliminaries and a discussion of the details of the estimate presented, the Controller moved to reduce it $200,000, and submitted his views as follows:

One of the three officials (the other two officers being members of the Board of Police) designated in chapter 677 of the laws of 1872, to consider and revise the estimate of the Board of Police for cleaning the streets, the Controller has given such consideration to the subject as the brief time at his disposal since the receipt of the estimate would permit.

The mode of doing the work has been settled by the Police Board, to wit, by the direct employment of men, rather than through the agency of a contractor. With a desire to facilitate the execution of this important public work, and to provide adequate means therefor, the Controller has arrived at the conclusion that the estimates of the Police Board, as submitted to him, may be reduced without impairing the efficiency of the service; in other words, that the streets of this City can for the remainder of the year, under an efficient administration, be cleaned satisfactorily for a less sum than that called for by the Police Board.

The Controller appreciates the necessity of appropriating a sum that will suffice to do the work well; at the same time he is not unmindful of the unusual claims upon the Treasury for this year, nor of the duty of officials to lessen the present unnatural burden upon the taxpayer as much as is practicable.

The sums called for by the Police Board, for equipment, can, to a considerable extent, be reduced. The carts, scows, &c., cannot be provided in a day, and, for a time, and until the equipment is complete, more or less of hired carts, scows and machinery must be resorted to. Some classes of the hiring can be extended over more time with advantage, and inasmuch as with experience, the class and extent of machinery required would be developed, it is very likely that the getting of a mass of comparatively useless machinery might in this way be avoided.

The Controller believes that the sweepings can be carried away from the City after they are gathered, at a much less cost than it will be done by the Police Board. The retinue of scows, tugs, &c., and their equipment, manning, &c., will thus be dispensed with, and a large sum of money for the machinery will be avoided.

It is reasonably certain that this work can be done for a large part of the City without any cost to the City, and that the addition of a few scows to those now on hand, will be all that are necessary.

It is not perceived that the Police force contributes any considerable element toward the performance of the contemplated service. The language of section 6 of the act is: "The said Board of Police is hereby authorized to appoint such officers, agents and employes as they may find necessary in executing the several provisions of this act, to perform such duties as cannot be advantageously performed by members of the Police force."

It will be seen that no employes of the Police is contemplated to be used in this service, except one, and that but sparingly is proposed to be authorized therefor. Is this what was contemplated? Might not the inspecting and general service of the Police be advantageously employed more in directing, thereby reducing the cost of the service.

The fact that the machinery must bear some proportion to the immense work, has not been lost sight of, and in suggesting reductions, the best information at hand has been sought; and the Controller believes that from the gross amount of the estimates of the Police Board a reduction of over $210,000 can be made, and leave sufficient moneys to do the work required.

A detailed statement of proposed reductions is herewith augmented, and it is not improbable that other practicable reductions could be suggested.

The act (section 3) contemplates the sale of street manure, dirt, sweepings, sales and garbage, and that moneys so derived from such sales are to be applied toward defraying the expenses of cleaning the streets, &c.

From this source a considerable income can be immediately derived, and a much larger income as soon as the business is completely organized. No estimate should be adopted that does not compensate a considerable sum from this source.

Complaints just and reasonable have for years filled the public ear at the costly method of administering or failing to administer a contract for street-cleaning that is but just now found to be without any authority of law. The streets have been neglected, and the masses of the people have suffered from this neglect. The money expended has failed to produce the returns that the public were entitled to have.

The Controller deems it due to himself to say that he would have preferred, for the performance of the work of street-cleaning, a separate department, with one head, and that the Police should, through its numerous agencies, have acted as the inspecting power, reporting daily the results of its inspection from every part of the City, for the cleansing of which it is responsible.

In the execution of the actual duty under the act, the Controller has no share. He has contributed such suggestions as occurred to him toward the new organization, and he would be unwilling to propose any reduction of the estimate that can embarrass those upon whom the duty now rests of cleansing the City.

The total cost of this cleaning, according to the estimates of the Board of Police, for a year, would be about $1,105,444. This is without the outlay for machinery. To this should be added for subsequent years, a percentage on the cost of machinery and its maintenance, which inaugurates an expense of not less than $1,200,000 per annum, a sum which the Controller deems excessive and unattainable.

The motion to reduce the estimate was lost, the Controller alone voting in the affirmative, and the Mayor and the President of the Board of Police in the negative.

The President of the Board of Police offered the following resolution, which was adopted by the votes of Messrs. A. O. HALL and HENRY SMITH in the affirmative, and Controller GREEN in the negative, the latter contending that the reduction should be much greater:

Resolved, That the Mayor, Controller and President of the Board of Police be and determine the sum of $1,000,000 as the amount which the Board of Police shall be authorized to expend during the year 1872 in executing the several provisions of chapter 677 of the laws of that year.

The Mayor then offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, Section 7 of chapter 677 of the laws of 1872 makes it incumbent upon the Comptroller of all the officials therein designated, to consider, and revise, and fix and determine the amount which the Board of Police is authorized to expend during the year 1872, in executing the provisions of said act; and as it is desirable that no question should arise as to the sufficiency of the performances of the acts required by said officials; therefore,

Resolved, That a certificate fixing and determining the amount, at $900,000, which the Board of Police may expend during the year 1872, in executing the several provisions of chapter 677 of the laws of 1872, be signed by each of the said officials.

The certificate was then signed and the Commission adjourned.

The following are the official figures showing a detailed estimate of the cost of street-cleaning:

To the Honorable the Mayor of the City of New-York, the Controller of the City of New-York, and the President of the Board of Police in the City of New-York:

The Board of Police of the Police Department of the City of New-York, as required by section 7 of chapter 677 of the laws of 1872, enacted by the Legislature of the State of New-York, makes the following estimate of the sum of money which will be required to defray the expenses, and make the payments to be made during the year 1872, in executing the several provisions of the said act; that is to say:

THE TURF.

The Coming Meeting at Long Branch—The Horses in Training, &c.

The Long Branch races will begin on Saturday, June 29, and promise to be the greatest event of the sporting year. The track there appeared in admirable condition yesterday, and every effort is being made to provide for the comfort of the crowds which will undoubtedly visit Monmouth Park during the meeting. The following horses, numbering eighty-one, are now at the Park and undergoing the "grand preparation":

The first stable we noticed was that of Mr. COTTRILL, Paterson trainer. The string consists of four, viz.: Frank Rose, Inspector Magnolia and Rockbridge. Next came Mr. PILL RILEY'S stable, consisting of John Merryman and his full brother Reston. Mr. DANIEL SWIGERT is represented by his brother, and his string at the Branch consists of Betty Washington, Springbok and Sojasock. Messrs. PARKS and MCCORMICK have Impressor Colt and Bella Allen.

Messrs. PINCKNEY & CO.—Don't forget McCORMICK trainer—have Alice Hunt, the excellent six-year-old horse by Vandal, out of Nora Creina, by Mahomet; Jadladeen, who is credited with the fastest mile on record, with Sabrina; a three-year-old filly, Jenny Miller, son by Australian, and a three-year-old colt by Leonard.

Mr. W. J. RAGON is represented by his trainer, J. ALCOCK, who has under his care the two-year-old Dolores and the three-year-old F. L. Carrington, by Ecuador, out of Dybaldine, by Star Davis. Mr. A. J. FRANCIS has the good one in Nevada, a full sister to Saline; Virginia, a full sister to Cape Race, and a three-year-old filly by War Dance, called Golitza. Mr. GEO. WARD'S stable consists of Commerce, a two-year-old colt by Asteroid, and Scintillans, by Tipperary, dam by imported Glencoe.

Mr. BONNER'S stable contains the veteran JOHN M. CLAY'S horses, seven in number, viz.: Survivor, 2 years, by Vandal, out of a mare by Lexington; True Blue, 3 years, by Lexington, out of Baloon, by imp. Yorkshire, Z. M. C., 2 years, by Star Davis, out of Sara, by Yorkshire; Lexington Bruce, b. c., three years, by Vandal, dam by Joe Bloss; Nonsense, b. c., three years, by Ansel, dam by Colton; Ginger, ch. c., four years, by War Dance, out of Georgie Woods, by imported Knight of St. George, and Ingitana, three years, by Uncle Vic, out of Georgie Woods, by imported Knight of St. George. Mr. CLAY'S string is completed by a trio of six, comprising Bazaine, by Asteroid, out of Laura White, by imported Glencoe; John Doe, by Lexington, out of Lucy Fowler, by imported Albion; Susan Ann, by Lexington, out of Roxanna, by imported Chesterfield and her full sister Jury; Bonnet Rag, by Tipperary, out of Greek Queen, by imported Glencoe; and Bowling, by Lexington out of Lucy Fowler, by imported Albion.

Mr. JOHN CHAMBERLIN has gathered a fine lot of young horses together under the care of his English trainer. His stable consists of Impecunious, by Tipperary; ch. c. Wheatley, 3 years, by War Dance, dam sister to Pryor No. 2, by imported Glencoe; gr. c. Brennus, by Lightning, out of Brenna, by imported Knight of St. George; ch. c. Vagrimus, by Planet, out of Linda, by imported Glencoe; Lady Jennie, a three-year-old sister to Tubman; Venetia, 3 years, by Asteroid, out of Verona, by Yorkshire; Ben Robinson, b. c., 3 years, by imported Knight of St. George; dam Ophmia, and Lord Jersey, 2 years, by War Dance, dam sister to Pryor No. 2.

Mr. A. BELMONT has two representatives, viz.: Woodbine, Gray Planet, Wade Hampton, Victoria, Count D'Orsay, Silk Stockings, Electra, and Medora. Col. MCDANIEL is busy with his famous string, which consists of the well-known Harry Bassett, Adele Koree, Joe Daniels, Tubman, Bubbard, Sue Butler, Lady Motley, and a two-year old filly by Julius, out of an Arlington mare.

Old Uncle JOHN HARPER was sitting under a tree in front of his stable when we approached, and conducted us through his establishment. First to be seen was Longfellow, who looked the picture of health and appeared fit to run for a man's life. Next to him was the great little horse, Lyttleton, and then came Express and his full sister Betrust, and last though not least the dying filly Platina, by Planet, out of Aerolite, by Lexington.

The Kinnickwick Stable of Mr. D. J. CROUSE consists of Burlesque, Ecuador, Trouncer, Rogue and a two-year old. Major BACON has Frank Hampton, Corsican and a Sea-Breeze colt. We found Corsican broken down, and as he is a gelding, is unfit for use.

DENNISON & CRAWFORD have three good ones in Outcast, Hampton and Woodsman. Blending the tune like to close in Mr. W. R. BABCOCK'S string, consisting of the ancestral campaigners Helmsold, the fine filly Nellie Ransom, and her full sister Ethel Syracuse, Conductor, The Doctor and a three-year-old filly by Bay Dick, dam by imported Scythian. There are more stables yet to come, and large numbers of men are employed erecting new and commodious stables for the continually-increasing demand.

Trotting at Fleetwood Park.

At Fleetwood Park, yesterday, the first race was a match for $500, mile heats, best three in five, in harness, between GEORGE WALKER'S b. m. Lady Anna and THOS. SIMMONS' blk. g. Ash, which was won by Ash. The second was a sweepstakes of $150, between B. MACE'S b. m. Topsey, Col. DICKEY'S dun g. George L. Fox, and W. E. WEEKS' blk. g. Eight Bells, which was won by Fox, after four heats were trotted. The third contest was a match of $500, mile heats, best three in five, under saddle, between the blk. g. Pimpton and the gray g. Bells Lewis, and was won by the latter horse. The last race was a match of $400, between B. MACE'S b. m. Lady Lessie and P. LAWRENCE'S b. m. Belle Golden, the former winning, which was unfinished in consequence of the darkness coming on. The following are the BRIEF VS. GOULD.

Jay Gould's Over-issue of Bonds—An Attempt to Make Him Disgorge.

Notice was served some time ago on the attorneys of JAY GOULD that it was the intention of the Erie Railway Company to sue him for relief, but nothing definite had been transpired concerning the exact nature of the relief sought. A reporter of the TIMES saw Gen. DIVEN, the Vice-President of the road, yesterday morning, and learned from him that the complaint was now being prepared by the lawyers of the Company, and that the gist of the thing was to compel JAY GOULD to explain his transactions with regard to the convertible bonds, which he issued to the amount of fifty-three millions. An act of the Legislature gives power to railroad corporations to issue these bonds to pay off floating debts, and it is at the option of the holder to convert them into stock or to have them paid in currency. At the time that President JAY GOULD issued these bonds he was a member of the firm of SMITH, GOULD & MARTIN, stock-brokers. He sold them to his own firm as President, put the money received into his own pocket, and then converted the bonds into shares in GOULD the broker. The most extraordinary thing about the whole business is that while there is a very accurate account kept of the b

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

The sales made at the Exchange yesterday, (Tuesday, June 18,) although nearly all of a local character, were of some importance, as will be seen from a review of the business transacted. Quite a number of prominent real estate operators were in attendance at the sale-rooms, and the greater portion of the property sold well. B. P. FAIRCHILD, by order of the Supreme Court in foreclosure, under the direction of D. P. INGRAHAM, Jr., Esq., referee, disposed of one lot, in size 23.4 by 100.5, situate on the north side of East Sixty-ninth-street, ninety-five feet west of Madison-avenue, for $20,-000, and three lots adjoining, each same size, for $23,000 apiece—all purchased by AUGUST POTTIER. The same auctioneer also sold, under another Supreme Court foreclosure order, WM. H. BYAS, Esq., referee, one 50 ft. lot, situate on the south side of East Ninety-eighth-street, 300 feet east of Third-avenue, which was purchased by ELIZABETH LINGDON, plaintiff in the legal action, for $1,000—a low figure. E. H. LUDLOW, at public auction, by order of the heirs of SAMUEL DURSHEE, deceased, sold two full-size lots, located on the north side of West One Hundred and Forty-third-street, 175 feet west of the Grand Boulevard, which were bought by WM. GUILFOYLE for $2,400 cash. JAMES M. MILLER, by order of the Supreme Court in partition, under the direction of THOMAS H. LANDON, Esq., referee, sold the premises known as No. 48 East Forty-seventh-street, 20 feet in front between Avenue A and First-avenue, embracing a lot 18.2 by 90 feet, with a three-story brick house upon the same, for $9,500; the purchaser being G. SMITH. Also, by order of the same Court, in foreclosure, under the direction of RICHARD C. REMMIS, Esq., referee, a lot 18 by 50 feet, with building, on same, situate on north side of West Sixteenth-street, 225 feet east of Tenth-avenue, for $6,000; the purchaser being BENJAMIN WALLIS, plaintiff. The closing sale of the day was made by WM. KENNELLY, who, by order of M. T. BRENNAN, Sheriff, disposed of a three-story brick house and lot, lately in the 10th ward, on the south side of Sixty-One Hundred and Thirteenth-street, 125 feet east of Third-avenue, for $9,700; purchaser, THOS. ALDRICH. Two other legal sales announced for yesterday were adjourned as follows: Sale by E. J. BLEECKER, Son & Co., of house and lot No. 79 Columbia-street, adjourned to July 2, and sale by F. R. HAZARD, of house and lot No. 28 West Fourteenth-street, adjourned to July 10. Nothing further of note occurred. Reports of the suburban auctions held yesterday, viz.: At Whitestone, Long Island, by JERE JOHNSON, Jr.; at Passaic, N. J., by A. D. MILLICK, JR., & BRO.; and at Hempstead, L. I., by Messrs. Wood, will be made to-morrow.

The country sales consummated on Monday, June 17, were, in their results, quite fortunate, for notwithstanding the fact that the lots offered were low priced, all were disposed of at very fair figures. At Jamaica, Long Island, ANDREW JOHNSON sold ninety-eight lots belonging to the Cadwise farm, adjoining Telford Lawn, for $18,180 in the aggregate. The sale was made to close out the transactions, the majority of the best lots belonging to the tract having been, prior to the auction, from time to time, sold at private sale. The lots sold on Monday are situated on Beaver-avenue, Adelia-avenue, Liberty-avenue, Atlantic-avenue, Turnpike road and on Sandman, Humboldt, South, West, Alton, Baltic, Dean, Wyckoff, Henry and Elm streets, and consisted mainly of acres and detached plots. The prices realized were satisfactory. The purchasers were all from the City of New-York, Brooklyn or Jamaica.

At Scotch Plains, N. J., at the Fanwood Station of the Central Railroad, A. D. MELLICK, JR. & BRO. offered at auction a house and 150 lots, all of which were sold, the total of the sale amounting to the sum of $30,125 50. The sale was made in close connection with the launch of the Scotch Plains property, and the result was regarded as favorable. The lots sold are in size each 25 by 100. A detailed report is announced, with names of buyers noted. The majority of the purchasers were from this City.

Today, at the Exchange, under legal orders, a house and lot on East Broadway, three houses on Second avenue, and a lot on East One Hundred and Twelfth-street, near Fourth-avenue, will be sold by JAMES M. MILLER. Also, four lots on One Hundred and Forty-second-street, by WM. KENNELLY. At Elizabeth, N. J., also today, by THOMAS H. LANDON, Esq., will commence the sale of lots being a part of valuable property owned by Messrs. GRIFFITH & PRENTISS, located at North Elizabeth station. Special tram for this auction, from foot of Cortlandt or Desbrosses streets, via ferry, at 11½ A. M.

At private contract GEORGE H. BURLING, in connection with Messrs. V. K. STEVENSON & SON, No. 11 Pine-street, reports having recently sold four lots on the north-west corner of the Grand Boulevard and Ninety-ninth-street, together with one lot on the rear, fronting on street, for $37,000. The private sales of thirteen lots, Nos. 1 to 13, on Jefferson-avenue, Scotch Plains, fronting on Park-avenue, for $24,000, is also reported. Also, sale of one lot, 24.6 by 100, on the south-east corner of Eighty-sixth-street and Avenue A, for $7,000.

D. 1872, notice is hereby given to all creditors of the Astor Fire Insurance Company, to present their claims to me, and that they are required to exhibit their claims to me, the undersigned, at my office in the City of New-York, on or before the 25th day of October, 1872, and that in default of such creditors exhibiting their claims as aforesaid they will be precluded from all benefit of the judgment. Dated this eighteenth day of March, 1872.

THEODORE POMEROY, Jr.,
Referee.

At a Special Term of the Supreme Court of the State of New-York held at the Chambers thereof in the City of New-York, on the 15th day of May, 1872.

Present—Hon. Joseph F. Daly, Justice.

In the matter of the Astor Fire Insurance Company.—Albert C. Bagg against the Astor Fire Insurance Company.—On reading and filing the petition of Robert L. Franklyn, setting forth that he is a creditor of said Company as prescribed in and by section 79, article 3, chapter 8, title 4, part 3 of the Revised Statutes. And further setting forth that no proceedings in the matter of the said Company to exhibit their claims and become parties to the above entitled suit within six months from the first publication of this order. And in default thereof that they be precluded from all benefit of the dividend of forty per centum of the debts of the above named corporation now or who have been ascertained to be those persons who have exhibited their claims as creditors of said Company as prescribed in and by section 79, article 3, chapter 8, title 4, part 3 of the Revised Statutes. And it is further ordered and decreed that a notice be published in the manner hereinafter directed, requiring all the creditors of the said Company and their assignees, if any have been appointed, to appear before Richard G. Fellows, or some other person to be appointed and authorized and directed to pay a dividend of forty per centum of the debts of the above named corporation now or who have been ascertained to be those persons who have exhibited their claims as creditors of said Company,

THE LABOR ISSUE.

The Employers Resolve to Resist the Strikers.

Three Hundred Firms Represented at their Meeting.

Violent Action of the Sugar Refining Operatives.

Gathering of the Malcontents Last Night.

It is well known that the workmen in various trades united together in the Eight-hour Leagues have for a long time been taxed weekly for their support in this crisis. These contributions, which, it is said, amount to nearly one million dollars, now furnish the backbone to the strike, and any trades which join the League may receive of its funds, upon a pledge to reimburse the organization so soon as success is achieved. The men in the various trades which have succeeded in obtaining their demands since the commencement of the present struggle, are now paying from $1 to $3 a week a piece, and it will be seen that trades still on strike must receive a support commensurate with the numbers which have resumed work upon the eight-hour system. The report of yesterday chronicled the defeat of the coach-makers, but yesterday new strikes were recorded as having occurred. By reference to the reports below it will be seen what progress was made yesterday by the strikers both at home and abroad. The most important movement made was that of the employers last evening, when 300 of them, representing all of the trades, decided to resist the strikers to the bitter end. As these bosses employ about 45,000 men, this action may be fairly considered as the culminating point in the eight-hour movement.

THE EMPLOYERS.

Important Meeting Last Night—Three Hundred Employers Decide to Resist the Strike—A Defiance to 45,000 Workmen.

A numerously-attended meeting of employers, engaged in all branches of manufactures, was held last evening at Stechtoren's Hall, Lafayette-place. The following firms were represented: Delamater's Iron-works; Singer's Sewing-machine Company; J. Roche & Co., ship-builders; Mitchell, Vance & Co., chandelier-makers; John Matthews, soda-water manufacturer; A. S. Cameron, steam pumps; G. H. Hayman, furniture; Gillis & Geoghegan, pipes; Valentine & Butler, safes; Brewster & Co., carriage-makers; Van Tassell & Co., West-side Iron-works; Geo. P. Billeawell, iron foundry; W. P. Bennell, cooperage; the Morgan Iron-works; James B. Jackson & Co., iron buildings; A. J. Campbell, iron buildings; Merrill & Sons, Iron-works; Albany Iron-works; West Point Foundry; Fletcher, Harrison & Co., iron-works; and committees from the brass-finishers, the furniture-makers and builders, the whole numbering nearly 300, representing from 40,000 to 45,000 workmen. The meeting was called for the purpose of taking concerted action on the question of maintaining the principles of ten hours for a day's work, and on such other questions as seriously affected their interests. The meeting was called to order by GEORGE B. BILLEAWELL, President of the Board of Iron Founders, who suggested as Chairman of the meeting A. J. CAMPBELL, representing VAN TASSELL & CO. The Chairman stated that the call for the meeting emanated from the furniture manufacturers, and it spod under the existing and growing necessities of the hour. The business community had experienced a combination of violent shocks, interesting and collating the sympathy of the public at large—now we see 70,000 men idling away their time, destructive to the interests of the city. It behooved the meeting, as business men, to meet the movement as conscience would dictate, on the part of themselves and the employes. What, he asked, would be the result if the demands of the workmen were conceded to? They knew well. Resistance, so said, is a duty we owe to ourselves, to our employes, and to the community at large. Our country is not in such a state of prosperity as to warrant the demands of the workmen being conceded to. It may, when we are more prosperous—may. It will find its place among us—at present it cannot be. The manner in which it is proposed to meet the difficulty will be submitted to the judgment of the meeting. The feeling of the employers will be unanimous, and in one direction. [Applause.]

The Chairman then nominated Mr. JOHN MATTHEWS and Mr. GEORGE HETMAN Secretaries. Mr. S. S. CAMERON then read the following resolutions, which were afterward unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The Legislature of the State of New-York having passed a law making eight hours a legal day's labor, which applies where no other understanding exists between the employer and the employed; and,

Whereas, This has been construed on the part of the working men as a mandatory law, compelling manufacturers to run their establishments only eight hours and forbidding them to employ men who are willing to work more than eight hours for a day's work; and,

Whereas, The Eight-hour League have adopted the construction of the law and have taken upon themselves to enforce it upon all; and,

Whereas, The interests of capital and labor are mutual and inseparable, we deem it the object of all manufacturers to maintain harmony between themselves and their employes, and that any unfriendly or unconscientious desire to do all in our power to promote the welfare and happiness of those who are dependent upon us for employment; and,

Resolved, We, the manufacturing employers, representing the general manufacturing interest of the City of New-York, have been called upon by our employes to reduce the hours of labor from ten hours to eight; and,

Whereas, We have given the subject our most careful and serious consideration, and we find that labor has cost more in New-York than at any other point in the United States, owing to the number of manufacturing concerns from our City, and as a reduction of the hours of labor would increase the cost of living, it would be necessary in order that we could live as comfortably as heretofore, that we pay them more for eight hours' labor than we have been accustomed to pay them for ten—increased cost of production being a direct tax on the producer—and that we cannot, at present, foreseen the close competition outside of our City, we find that we are entirely unable to meet the demand, and we have, therefore,

Resolved, That we will hereafter pay our workmen by the hour and we will only employ such as are willing to work ten hours per day, and we will close our establishments if necessary and keep them closed until we can employ such men as we purchase; and as the "Trades Unions" societies and leagues, so called, have, by their unreasonable and arbitrary demands, done much to disturb the relations between employer and employed by forming combinations to secure the same rate of compensation for inferior as for superior workmen, by dictating to employers the conditions under which they should conduct their business, by limiting the number of apprentices to learn trades, by refusing to allow journeymen to work for such employers as infringe the regulations laid down by their workmen, and by committing such tyranny incompatible with the free institutions of this country, and which we will not submit to; and,

Resolved, That we will hereafter refuse to employ any workman guilty of any act looking to the arbitrary establishment of relations between the employer and employed, and in connection we earnestly call upon our mechanics individually to exercise their own good sense in the present emergency, and to avoid evil counsels.

Mr. BUTTON, representing Butterworth & Co., corroborated the statements made on behalf of the trade. He said he decided vacation plans in spring for workmen and the employer together. He was sorry to say his calculations of laborers were at an end. He found men took "dirty" advantage, though he had made many friends among the workmen of his establishment. They would not be relied on. The firm which he represented had 342 men before the strike, and those very men on whom he fancied he could have placed dependence, were those who brought him into the difficulty. He found that in all questions of controversy between the employer and the employed, the latter was always benefited while the former suffered. He said that the Trades Committee should not have to do between the employer and the workmen. They were the cause of all the mischief. He said his experience was to "get down" at the men and appeal to their common sense. He could not, he said, hope to expect an compromise; he let them know what would run along. If the strike continued, it must be based on facts, and not fancies. He told them the firm would not yield one inch. The men then took their leave, and finally went to work on Monday, at the old hours and old wages. [Applause.]

Mr. BUTTON stated, further, that he explained that the firm had debts literally made his workmen. In 1869 an industrial experiment was organized, in what was called the shop department. Representatives from each work-shop being duly taken. In pursuance of the plan then adopted, 10 per cent. of the profits were distributed pro rata among the workmen. Before the interests of capital or the members of the firm had been considered. Of course, said he, if capital became unremunerative, the percentage should be reduced. The men could not understand this. The first year the men received over $1,000. All parts of the business were most satisfactorily conducted; the men took an interest in the business, and harmony and economy was the result. Notwithstanding all this, in one day "they busted up the whole thing."

Mr. CAMERON, of CAMERON & Co., Centre-street, after some protatory remarks, said, they must admit as a fact that the shortening of the hours of labor go hand in hand with the march of civilization. Men, said he, work less to-day than they did twenty years ago. The labor-saving machinery had a good deal to do with this. He questioned if the demand for eight hours was just. He maintained it would not be just to themselves, to their employes, or the community. There is, he said, no employer who does not work ten hours, and does it not seem unjust that those whose capital, accumulated by industry, enables them to give employment to working men, should be called upon to pay more for a less time than they themselves work, without an equivalent value?

There was something unhealthy about this strike; it does not partake of the tone of the New-York workmen. We hear, said he, low mutterings through the streets, "Why should not we live in a brown-stone mansion?" Yes, said the speaker, I have no objection that a workman should do so if by his honesty he can do so; but, said he, I see behind all this the spectre of Communism. Our duty is to take it by the throat and say it has no business here. [Applause.] Mr. CAMERON then proceeded to show the tyranny exercised by some of the leaders of New-York, in which he instanced the outdoor and plasterers, and read letters from places in Connecticut illustrating the subject. He said it was the duty of the employers to have labor as cheap as they could. The position of New-York, he said, and its various facilities should make it the cheapest place in the country, yet labor was dearer here than in any part of America. He then referred to the ramifications of the Molders' Union. He said a man of the organization was in every shop, and exercised more influence there than the owner. He read extracts from the by-laws of that organization in support of his assertions. He spoke of his experience of machine-shops out West. In Jersey men got $3 or $4 a day. In New-York, if one man ran two machines, he was told the place would be made too hot for him. The employers could afford to do without the men. They can allow the wheel to stand still, and allow the workmen to see their faults. The workmen are infatuated; they are listening to bad councils. He considered by advising no compromise.

Mr. ROCHE, ship-builder, thought this question of more importance than the result of the Presidential campaign. He recounted how, when his employes struck, he gave them half what they asked, viz., five per cent. They went to work, took the money, and again struck. He acceded to their original demand of ten per cent., and after being a short time in his employ under the arrangement they left, and, ultimately some of the workmen came again and knocked the rivets out of a ship which was on the stocks, and then left.

Mr. MACKENZIE, of Singer's Machine Company, employing 2,300, said the firm would close up unless the men came back. Other speakers followed, after which an executive committee, to be called "The Executive Committee of the Employers of the City and County of New-York and its Vicinity," was appointed, consisting of three, to which was added the Chairman and Secretary.

A resolution was also passed endorsing the action of the police authorities, and promising the support of the meeting to the authorities in their future operations to preserve life and property.

THE SUGAR-WORKERS' STRIKE.

Intimidating Workmen—Strikers Anxious to Resume Work, but Afraid of Their Leaders—Meeting of the Employers.

The sugar and molasses refiners held a meeting yesterday, at the rooms of the Importers' and Grocers' Board of Trade, for the purpose of comparing notes as to the position of the strike among their workmen. From the reports received, it was evident that by far the greater portion of the sugar-bakers and sugar-workers on strike are willing and anxious to resume work at the old wages. A few violent and desperate men are said to be the promoters of the strike, and workmen who are entirely satisfied with the old rates have been compelled to quit work under threats of violence. As stated in yesterday's Times, the anomaly is presented of first-class workmen actually demanding lower wages.

Mr. BOOTH, of BOOTH & EDGAR, sugar refiners, employing from 120 to 135 men, said yesterday that very many of their men presented themselves at the factory yesterday morning, and expressed themselves anxious to return to work if protection from violence was guaranteed them. He thought the Mayor should issue a proclamation insuring protection to reasonable workmen who desire to resume their labors, by calling out the military if necessary. The Police are doing good work in protecting the factories, but they are unable to protect workmen at their homes. Other employers also stated to the meeting that many of their men were willing to resume work, if they dared; and, as an instance of the terrorism exercised by the leaders of the strike, the proprietor of a Williamsburg refinery read an anonymous letter which he had just received, threatening that the men in his factory who refused to leave will be murdered, unless they at once join the strikers. The refinery of BUNGER, HURLBUT & LIVINGSTON is still kept open, but men are leaving hourly. The firm will endeavor to replace them, under police protection, as soon as possible.

The refining business in this city is at a complete standstill, and the prices of sugars will of course steadily advance until a settlement is reached. A leading refiner is of the opinion that even if the demanded increase in wages were granted, the workmen would only be taking the bread out of their own mouths, as New-York could not then compete with the superior refining facilities of Boston and Baltimore, and, the price of sugar being raised, the working classes would suffer in the end.

Capt. CAMERON, with 100 Police, was on duty at DURANT'S sugar refinery, foot of East Twenty-fifth-street yesterday, trouble being apprehended from the interferences of strikers. The Police say that numbers of strikers from other sugar-houses were around the corners in the neighborhood, but none of them visited the refinery.

There was a meeting of the sugar refiners at Walhalla Hall, during the day, and several thousand names were enrolled in the combination formed. All the workmen employed in the New-York, Brooklyn and Williamsburg refineries, except in DURANT'S, of this City, have quit work. There are thirty refineries in New-York and vicinity, employing, it is estimated, 4,500 men. Their proposed procession did not take place yesterday, in consequence of the refiners' meeting again at Walhalla to discuss the situation, and make plans to continue the strike.

Three German sugar-refiners, named FERDINAND LUDDERS, FREDERICK REINGLE and ALBERT KHRON, were arraigned before Justice SCOTT, at Essex Market, yesterday, for having assaulted and badly beaten, PERMANUS BOSCH, of No. 618 Madison-street, who refused to join the ranks of the strikers. The prisoners were held for trial, and subsequently bailed in $500 each to answer.

The sugar-refiners met last evening and received reports of the progress of the strike. All concessions offering less than 10 per cent were reported as rejected. Two hundred and fifty new members were added to the organization.

OTHER STRIKES.

The Iron and Metal Workers' League.

The Iron and Metal Workers' League comprises the machinists, blacksmiths, boiler-makers, brass-finishers and all workers in hard metals except the iron-molders. The League held its daily meeting at Germania Assembly Rooms yesterday. A number of reports from the various committees in shops were received, and the names of men who have refused to quit working ten hours per day were chalked upon a black-board with the general title of "blacklegs" written above. Other black-boards were marked with the names of firms who are reported to have acceded to the demands of the League. The names of these firms are as follows: CASSADY, Brooklyn; HOPKINS & DICKERSON, New-York; ANDREWS, No. 414 Water-street; GALLAGHER'S, Centre-street; TH WOODCOCK, Thirty-fourth-street; BUDKIN, Jersey City, all machine-shops; and the Camden and Amboy Railroad Company's steam-boat machine-shop. It was also announced by a committee that the machinists of the Long Island Railroad Company expected to go to work at eight hours next day. During the week machines were ready announcing that the men in the Hudson River Railroad Company's shops, at East Albany, Union and Schenectady, struck yesterday for eight hours. A dispatch from a Mr. FEDERBRACH, President of the International Union of Machinists and Blacksmiths near Yonkers, was read, stating that he had organized a branch of the Union in that town, 2,500 strong, and that each member of the League would contribute 25 per week of their wages to support the strike of their fellow-workmen in the City.

A copy of a notice posted up by Mr. JOHN ROACH at his Morgan Iron-works was read. It is to the effect that he finds the majority of his workmen opposed to the strike, and any man who is not in the shop today at work may consider his place vacant. Forty-four shops have capitulated, and 2,550 of the machinists are now working upon the eight-hour system, and pay out $2 each a week to 1,300 strikers. Considerable discussion was indulged in during the afternoon over several motions looking to the co-operation of the iron-molders. The iron-molders are members of the International Union of Machinists and Blacksmiths, whose head-quarters are in Cleveland, Ohio. The deliberations finally resulted in the appointment of a Committee of three to visit the Molders' Unions, and ask their assistance in furtherance of the objects of the League. Favorable reports from Brass-finishers', Boiler-makers', Blacksmiths' and other unions were given in by delegates. The officers of the League aver that they will not participate in the proposed indignation meeting of a number of the trades, to be held at the Cooper Union on Friday evening, as it will be led by THEODORE BANKS, the Communist leader, and they have nothing in common with Communists. A mass-meeting of the League, however, will be held in Germania Assembly Rooms on Thursday night. The Executive Committee were in secret session during the day, discussing the situation and making preparations for the proposed parade on the 4th of July.

The Sewing-Machine Men.

The Singer Sewing-machine men met at Walhalla Hall yesterday afternoon to express their determination to hold out to the end. A number of men from the Wing Sewing-machine Company were received. About four-fifths of these workmen, it is said, are on a strike, and the remainder are expected to follow suit today. A notice was posted on the door of the Singer Company's factory in Mott-street on Monday, which reads as follows:

"This factory will not be opened on the 17th inst., but will remain closed until further notice."

One of the agents of the Company stated yesterday, that the Company had 80,000 machines in this City on last Wednesday, and never now manufactured and ready for sale 270,000 machines. The factory in Glasgow, Scotland, turns out 2,400 per week. The men there work eight and a half hours per day. The agent stated he could procure enough men to fill the factory; but the Company thought it imprudent to do so. There were 700 who signed the agreement to work on Monday, and others would do so if they dared. He said that the two weeks in July, every year, the factory was idle, being closed for repairs to the machinery. Mr. A. M. SINGER is at present in Europe, and has sent no communication relative to the strike.

The Piano-Makers.

The Piano-makers met at Germania Assembly Rooms, and though they transacted no public business of an important nature the Executive Committee were in session all day. WERNER'S men were stated to be firm in their demands, notwithstanding the efforts made to induce them to go to work. A committee has been appointed to secure legal assistance to redress the alleged wrongs of about 100 men who, it is claimed, were roughly handled by the Police.

DECKER & BARNES' men, it was stated by the Executive Committee, went to work at eight hours yesterday. It was also stated that men are working eight hours in the following shops: GROVESTEIN, No. 43 Mercer-street; CALENBURGH & VAUDEN, West Thirty-sixth-street; YOUNG & CO., corner Fourth-street and Lewis; SCHURTZ & LUDOLPH, Broome and Mercer streets, and SCHLABERS & SON, Sixth-street. BLOOMFIELD & OTIS and STEDMAN & UHLRICHS were also expected to accede to the demands of their men.

The Marble-Polishers.

A force of Police were detailed by Capt. CAMERON to protect the marble-cutter's shop, in Eighteenth-street, near Irving-place, yesterday, an interference with the workmen being expected.

Coach-Makers.

About two dozen men, prominent in the coach-makers' strike, have been dismissed. Some of them were foremen in shops, and after that they were forced into the movement.

Card.

In justice to our employes, and in order that no misconception may arise in the mind of the public, we desire to state that, with the exception of a portion of our painters, not one of the men in our employ took part in the recent strike among the coach-makers, but stood by us throughout the late trouble, and continued to work ten hours per day, without increase of wages, notwithstanding the arguments, persuasions and threats, which were used by the workmen of other firms. Many of our men have been with us ten, fifteen and even thirty years, and we take pleasure in saying that the cordial relations which have ever existed between office and work-shop have shown themselves more conducive to harmonious action than the boasted co-operative or any other system. Where others have failed, our plan has succeeded in the face of the heaviest outside pressure. Our workmen, also, have been selected with particular regard to intelligence and respectability, as well as skillful workmanship, and have by their conduct in the late crisis fully realized our expectations and justified us in our plan of treatment.

J. B. BREWSTER & CO.,
of Twenty-fifth-street.

Journeymen Barbers.

A committee of journeymen barbers waited the various barber shops in this City yesterday for the purpose of inducing the proprietors to accede to a reduction of the hours of labor. They demanded from 7 A. M. to 8 P. M. as a day's work, except Saturday, when the employers are at liberty to keep open the customary hours. They also desire the closing of the shops on the Sabbath. The Committee said they hoped to get all the employers to sign the petition for less hours, so as to prevent a strike.

Other Trades.

The men employed on a German newspaper of Williamsburg were on strike yesterday.

About 350 men employed in the different gas-works assembled in secret session yesterday morning at Loreley Hall, No. 322 West Forty-second-street, and, after a long discussion, resolved to demand eight hours a day or twenty per cent. advance on wages.

The longshoremen working on the North River have begun a movement for an increase of wages, demanding eighty cents an hour after 5 o'clock, or double the amount received for day work. If a strike is resolved on, it will extend to the longshoremen on the East River.

The shirt-cutters held a meeting yesterday afternoon at No. 21 Walker-street. Reports were received from several shops giving in to the eight-hour movement. Assistance was proffered the Association by the Eight-hour League. The men are confident of achieving success.

The cigar-packers held a meeting at the Walhalla Hall, in Orchard-street, to reorganize their association. A constitution was adopted. No measures relative to striking were adopted.

The Sash and Blind Makers' Union met last evening at Military Hall. Additional houses were reported as giving in to the strike. About 200 men have finished their strike and are at work on the eight-hour system.

The harness-makers held a meeting at Putnam Hall last night to elect new officers and perfect their organization.

The rumors of a strike to take place among the dress-makers of STEWART'S and other large establishments is continued to be a subject of conversation. It is said a badly beaten Paramount Boss of No. 618 Madison-street, who refused to join the ranks of the strikers. The prisoners were held for trial, and subsequently bailed in $500 each to answer.

The sugar-refiners met last evening and received reports of the progress of the strike. All concessions offering less than 10 per cent were reported as rejected. Two hundred and fifty new members were added to the organization.

Journeymen Barbers.

A committee of journeymen barbers waited the various barber shops in this City yesterday for the purpose of inducing the proprietors to accede to a reduction of the hours of labor. They demanded from 7 A. M. to 8 P. M. as a day's work, except Saturday, when the employers are at liberty to keep open the customary hours. They also desire the closing of the shops on the Sabbath. The Committee said they hoped to get all the employers to sign the petition for less hours, so as to prevent a strike.

Other Trades.

The men employed on a German newspaper of Williamsburg were on strike yesterday.

About 350 men employed in the different gas-works assembled in secret session yesterday morning at Loreley Hall, No. 322 West Forty-second-street, and, after a long discussion, resolved to demand eight hours a day or twenty per cent. advance on wages.

The longshoremen working on the North River have begun a movement for an increase of wages, demanding eighty cents an hour after 5 o'clock, or double the amount received for day work. If a strike is resolved on, it will extend to the longshoremen on the East River.

The shirt-cutters held a meeting yesterday afternoon at No. 21 Walker-street. Reports were received from several shops giving in to the eight-hour movement. Assistance was proffered the Association by the Eight-hour League. The men are confident of achieving success.

The cigar-packers held a meeting at the Walhalla Hall, in Orchard-street, to reorganize their association. A constitution was adopted. No measures relative to striking were adopted.

The Sash and Blind Makers' Union met last evening at Military Hall. Additional houses were reported as giving in to the strike. About 200 men have finished their strike and are at work on the eight-hour system.

The harness-makers held a meeting at Putnam Hall last night to elect new officers and perfect their organization.

The rumors of a strike to take place among the dress-makers of STEWART'S and other large establishments is continued to be a subject of conversation. It is said a badly beaten Paramount Boss of No. 618 Madison-street, who refused to join the ranks of the strikers. The prisoners were held for trial, and subsequently bailed in $500 each to answer.

A meeting was held by 200 quarrymen, at the corner of Fourth-avenue and Eighty-fifth-street, last night. The men were the unsuccessful portion of the 1,800 quarrymen who struck for eight hours about two weeks ago. They refused to receive aid from those who, having been successful, were paying $2 a week per man for their support, as they have obtained employment and bodily rest. They will continue on strike until their object is gained.

Assault on Gas Laborers.

At 11 o'clock last night, as JACOB BURNAHT and CARL COSTER, both Germans, employed at the Metropolitan Gas Works, at Forty-second-street and Eleventh-avenue, were proceeding down Forty-second-street on their way to work, they were assailed with a shower of stones, thrown at them by the "strikers" who had been discharged from the works. BURNAHT was severely and COSTER slightly injured about the head. The assailants fled, and made their escape. This is the first act of violence which has been shown by the discharged laborers at the gas-works to those who have been employed in their places.

Jersey City Strikes.

There was a large gathering of boiler-makers and machinists assembled at Hamilton Park, Jersey City, at which the following list of shops, the men employed in which had joined the strike, was read: FALKNER'S Machine-shop, No. 32 Hudson-street; SMITH BROTHERS' Machine-shop, same street; H. B. CUSHING'S machine-shop; SEEGLE & COMBACT'S, and Washington Iron-works.

In the following shops the employers were reported as having acceded to the demands of the men: BURNALL'S, CLEARY'S and WALKER'S machine-shops.

In FIELD & WORTH'S, Camden and Amboy and WM. HARRIS' machine-shops, only part of the men had struck. After the meeting adjourned, some of the men visited the last named shops, and attempted to force the men out, but the attempt was prevented by the Police.

There are at present only three machine-shops in Jersey City running with a full force of men.

The men employed in the Adirondack Steel-works, Jersey City, numbering about 400, have prepared to strike for eight hours. The marble-workers in DICKSON'S shops have also struck for eight hours.

A large majority of the boiler-makers and machinists in Jersey City struck yesterday morning. In all the shops in Hudson-street and in the streets running at right angles thereto, except the New-Jersey Copper-works, MCGANN'S boiler-works and WALKER'S machine-shop, all the men turned out. WALKER and MCGANN informed their men that they might continue on at eight hours a day, but FALCONER & MCCULLOUGH, M. B. CUSHING, PETERSON and others decline to treat with the workmen.

The men employed in the Erie Railway repair-shops at Jersey City, 400 in number, yesterday held a second meeting, and appointed Messrs. AMONS and SWAIN a committee to visit all shops on the road and agitate a general strike. A considerable sum of money was contributed to aid in carrying out the desired object

YACHTING.

Annual Regatta of the Atlantic Club.

The Vixen, Aeon, and Undine the Winners—A Fine Day's Sport—The Addie Carries Away her Topmast.

Of the seven annual regattas held by the Atlantic Yacht Club, not one has proved so eminently successful as the one which took place yesterday. Early in the morning all interested in it were very despondent, for the weather looked as if the day was to be a repetition of such as it has often been these misfortunes to have. Not a breath of air was stirring, and a thick haze hung over the water, which was as smooth as a mirror. The steamer Wm. Fletcher, Capt. J. GORDON EMMONS, was in waiting at Martin's Wharf, Brooklyn, early in the morning, to take on board the Judges, Messrs. W. MCMULLEN, W. H. DOUGLAS and THOMAS J. NORTHALL, the representatives of the Press, and a few invited guests. She steamed away for Gowanus Bay at 8½, where her place was taken by the Magenta, which had been chartered for the accommodation of the members of the Club and their friends, of whom there were probably 1,500 put owing to the press of sail by the Regatta Committee in the anchorage, the disagreeable crowding was experienced. A band of music on board added to the pleasure of the excursion.

When the Fletcher arrived at the starting point, off Bay Ridge, the water was dotted all over with yachts of various sizes and rig, but a total calm prevailed, and they were unable to move otherwise than as the tide drifted them. The order was that all competing yachts must be in line promptly at 9 o'clock, but that was found to be impossible. The judges, assisted by Mr. J. M. SAWYER, engaged actively in assigning positions to the yachts, but many of them had to be towed into line by the Fletcher, which was kept busy for more than an hour in doing so. At length they were all in position and ready to start; but the total absence of wind rendered a further delay necessary. The yachts that entered for the regatta were divided into four classes, as follows:

Schooners.

Yacht.	Owner.	Mean length. Ft.	Ins.
Vixen	S. Homans
Mystic	W. C. Cresmer
Fleetwing	Jas. H. Haxwell	65	7
Resolute	A. S. Hatch	108	7
Sea Witch	H. Stock
Tidal Wave	Com. Yeomans	65

First-Class Sloops.
(Cabin sloops over forty-five feet water line.)

Addie	W. H. Langley	61	2
Gracie	S. J. Colgate	62	3
Orion	S. W. Cooper	48	6
Vixen	L. Livingston	49	3

Second-Class Sloops.
(Cabin sloops of forty-four feet and under water line.)

Annie	W. A. Cumming	39	3
Josephine	V. Lowell	43	3
Nimbus	Com. Foot	43	5
Qui Vive	F. Gladstone	42	3
Viking	Undine

Third-Class Sloops.
(Open boats.)

Flyaway	V. B. Livingston	32	8
Undine	A. Willis	30

Of these, the schooners Vixen, Mystic and Sea Witch, and sloop Viking did not arrive at the rendezvous in time to take part in the regatta.

The course was for schooners and first-class sloops, from the anchorage down through the Narrows, to and around stake-boat at South-west Spit; thence to and around stake-boat off Sandy Hook, west Spit, thence home and around Light-ship, rounding the same from the southward, thence home, going to southward and westward of beacon on Romer Shoal, a distance of forty miles.

For second-class sloops, the same course, to and around stake-boat at South-west Spit; thence to and around stake-boat on the north edge of buoy in Gedney Channel, rounding the same from the southward, thence home, passing to the westward of beacon on Romer Shoal, a distance of thirty-two miles.

For third-class sloops, same course, to and around stake-boat at Southwest Spit; thence home, a distance of 24 miles.

All yachts to pass between Forts Lafayette and Richmond, to the eastward of buoys 11, 13 and 15 on West Bank, both going and returning; around stake-boat at Southwest Spit by the westward and southward, and at home stake between the two stake-boats marking the line.

Soon after 11 a slight breeze sprang up, and at 11:40 the first whistle was given from the Magenta for schooners to prepare and approach the starting point. At 11:50 a second whistle signaled the schooners to start, it being a flying one. At 11:55 a third whistle sent away the schooners. The wind, which was S. S. W., was so light that the schooners only crept along, but the Peerless showed that she possessed speed, and was likely to be a fast boat in a light wind. The schooners crossed the line as follows:

	H.	M.	S.
Peerless	11	53	20
Resolute	11	53	40
Tidal Wave	11	55	40

The Peerless, with all sail set, except the foretopsail, made for the Staten Island shore, leading the fleet, and got well on her way before the Tidal Wave had crossed the line of starting. Of the sloops, the Gracie took the lead, making good time in such a light wind. On approaching Fort Wadsworth, the Addie, which was considerably behind, hoisted her balloon-jib, but there not being sufficient wind to fill it, she had to take it in again. The other sloops were all in a bunch, creeping along to the Staten Island shore. On tacking off Fort Wadsworth, they made for the opposite shore in the following order: Peerless, Anna, Vixen, Undine, Orion, Josephine, Flyaway, Addie, Qui Vive, Nimbus, Gracie, Resolute, Tidal Wave. Soon after 1 o'clock the wind freshened considerably, and the yachts, which were then all close together, began to move more briskly, and the Peerless went ahead until there was nearly half a mile between her and the second boat. The Resolute felt the breeze before the Tidal Wave, and managed to obtain a lead of about one-eighth of a mile before the Tidal Wave felt it; but when she did she followed the Resolute at a good pace. The Addie also began to do well as soon as she caught the wind, but the Vixen was close after her, and soon passed her a second time. The stake-boat at the South-west Spit was passed in the following order and time:

	H.	M.	S.		H.	M.	S.
Vixen	1	55	30	Undine	2	13	30
Orion	1	56	30	Flyaway	2	21	30
Peerless	2	2	30	Josephine	2	27	0
Anna	2	10	0	Tidal Wave	2	34	30
Gracie	2	11	5	Resolute	2	35	45
Addie	2	14	0	Nimbus	2	39	00
Qui Vive	2	17	15

Shortly before reaching South-west Spit, the Anna, Capt. KELLY, joined the fleet and took the lead, passing the Vixen and Mystic and steadily gained on her, rounding the Light-ship far in advance of all the fleet. The wind had now sufficiently freshened to drive the yachts along at a good pace, and the run from the Spit was a lively one. The Peerless had a long lead, but soon after passing Sandy Hook the Tidal Wave passed the Resolute and was gaining on the Peerless. The Vixen also kept the lead and gained on all of her class, while the Gracie passed the Addie. Several of the boats attempted to hoist some of their kites, but were unable to carry them. From the South-west Spit the third-class boats turned and made for the home stake-boat, which they reached as follows: Flyaway, 3:45; Undine, 3:47:30.

The second-class sloops, after rounding the Spit, pointed to the Gedney Channel buoy, and reached the stake-boat at home as follows:

	H.	M.	S.
Anna	3	29	0
Qui Vive	4	31	00
Josephine	4	48	30
Nimbus	4	54	45

Meanwhile the larger yachts were speeding toward the Light-ship under a good stiff bre
